Pineau Submits Proposal

Wants Suez Canal Run by International Authority; Egypt Recognized Owner

LONDON (AP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau proposed today that the Suez Canal be managed by an international authority, but with Egypt acknowledged as the canal's owner. Egyptian officials, objecting to a Western plan advanced yesterday by Secretary of State Dulles for international control, were dickering behind the scenes with Indians and Russians to block it as the Frenchman expressed his views.

"We consider that there are points on which agreement should be easily reached although they imply sacrifices for some, including ourselves," Pineau told the 22-nation Suez conference. He made these points:

"1. The canal and its installation should be the property of Egypt, which would assure Egypt adequate revenues from it.

"2. The Suez Canal Co., should be properly compensated."

As the owner of the canal, Pineau proposed, the Egyptian government should sign a treaty handing its management to an international authority.

He said the authority should make no profits and excess receipts should go to Egypt after provision for compensation of the company.

Secretary of State Dulles, who presented the big three scheme yesterday, today explored the attitude of Asian nations. The latter are sympathetic to Egypt's July 26 nationalization of the canal, but vitally interested in keeping it open to navigation.

Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry, top political adviser to Egyptian President Nasser, held a three-hour hotel conference with V. K. Krishna Menon, leader of the Indian delegation. Then he talked with the Russians.

Sabry said Egypt insisted on the right to control the canal. Another Egyptian official said, "The Dulles plan is not acceptable to Egypt," primarily because of the provision for an international control board.

An indication of the Soviet stand was seen in a Moscow radio broadcast which declared the conference delegates "can make headway if they start making arrangements for an international conference."

Russia has supported Egypt's July 26 nationalization of the Suez Canal Co. and demanded a much-expanded conference to include all Arab nations and Communist countries.

Teen Towners Are Searching For New Locale

The Teen Town youngsters are without a home. The quarters in the City Hall where Teen Town has been located for a number of years are now being taken over by the city for City Hall offices and a number of the junior Teen Town board is seeking help for the teenagers. The youth is Don Barbour, who was last year graduated from Smith-Cotton High School.

Every year the kids look forward to Teen Town, Don said, and this year they have no place to go. Friday and Saturday nights when the teenagers gather at Teen Town to play games and dance have always been fun. Now the boys and girls are wondering where they can put their pool tables, their ping pong tables, where they can dance, buy soft drinks and have their general good time on weekends.

Don feels that maybe somebody would have a place they can offer the young citizens of Sedalia or have a suggestion of what they might do. Anybody who has a building they might let the Teen Town have is asked to get in contact with him at telephone number 3782 or other members of the Teen Town board.

The boys and girls through the years have been very grateful to the city for giving them a place to gather and they would certainly appreciate the help anyone would give them now in finding a new home. School will soon be starting again and so will Teen Town, that is if it has any place to start.

Wide Open Battle For Vice President Nomination Begins

Stevenson Meets With Truman In Ranks-Closing Gesture; His Stand Sets Off Fierce Scramble

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, unanimously nominated to carry the Democrats' presidential banner for a second time, met with Harry S. Truman today in a ranks-closing gesture. His party legions scrambled furiously meantime over a vice presidential nominee.

Aides said Stevenson was standing strictly by the word he gave delegates last night as to a running mate: "The choice will be yours."

This was in a dramatic appearance before the convention shortly after it had snowed under the effort by ex-President Truman to beat Stevenson with Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, and had gone on to make the nomination unanimous.

Stevenson's stand on the No. 2 spot on his ticket set off a frantic jockeying for the chance to stand with him in the second campaign against President Eisenhower and it was anticipated—Vice President Nixon, the GOP team which won by a landslide four years ago.

Plunging into the race were Sens. Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore, both of Tennessee; Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts; Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota; and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City.

Others, among them Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, were receptive.

Stevenson's decision to leave the No. 2 place up to the convention marked also the opening of the campaign. For he announced it with stress on the importance of the vice presidency and with the observation that seven men have ascended to the nation's highest office through death of the president.

These were words calculated to bring to mind the questions raised about Eisenhower's health and the Democratic charges that Nixon is not of White House calibre.

Stevenson called at Truman's hotel suite after receiving a telephone call of congratulations from the former president who asked to visit Stevenson.

The party nominee, as the younger man, suggested he should go to Truman.

Unquestionably, there was drama in this meeting of the new champion and the "Old Man from Missouri" whom he had whipped and stripped naked of political power in this 32nd gathering of the Democratic clans. But it was behind closed doors and veiled to newsmen.

Stevenson stayed about three or four minutes and emerged smiling. To questions flung by newsmen, he said, "I paid my respects to him."

Earlier, Stevenson had paid a call on Harriman.

Last night's balloting for the simply no contest.

Pennsylvania, Illinois Were Keys— How Did Adlai's Nomination At Chicago Really Happen?

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Democrat-Capital

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago—Aug. 17—How did it happen and what does it mean?

The nomination of Adlai Stevenson means the Democratic party is now controlled by a combination of eggheads and professional-looking toward the future. The old guard, which draws its inspiration from the past, got licked. Harry Truman is off Stevenson's back and that may help the Democrats this fall.

Pennsylvania and Illinois put it over for Stevenson. These were the key pre-convention delegations. Michigan and New Jersey clinched it after the show was underway. In fact, it was Stevenson from the start.

Reuther played a part. Once again Walter Reuther, of the United Auto Workers, was one up on his old rival David McDonald, of the steelworkers. McDonald let it be known he was for Gov. Harriman. Thereupon Carmine De Sapio, the Tammany chieftain, announced he would crack the Pennsylvania delegation. The putsch was backed by John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers. It didn't work.

Reuther then announced for Stevenson. That turned the trick in Michigan. Harriman all but broke down when he learned Michigan was lost. He was the candidate who wanted to leave the middle of the road to Ike. Harriman got the support of McDonald, the labor "moderate," but Stevenson got the support of Reuther, who is not so moderate at all.

The maneuvers of ex-President Truman lent color to the show, but had little impact. There was no stampede to Harriman. On the contrary, southern delegations were driven further into the Stevenson camp. As between Harriman and Stevenson, their preference was clear.

Only the civil rights issue could have blown the convention apart. Here again the forces of "moderation" prevailed. The civil rights plank was too stiff for the south, too mild for the liberals. Either faction could have forced a showdown floor fight. Neither chose to do so. Instead, each put on a demonstration for the folks back home, and the plank drafted by the platform committee shot through with a big shout and fast gavel. The fix was firm.

That was the last hurdle for Stevenson. He might have survived a bursting civil rights thunderhead. But conventions can get out of hand. Most delegates—even those from the same state—don't know each other. Many of them (Please turn to page 2, column 3)

Typhoon 'Babs' Kills Japanese In Hard Storm

TOKYO (AP) Typhoon Babs killed at least 18 persons, police said, and swamped 223 small boats off Kyushu today, then threatened to strike again in northern Japan.

Storm warnings were sounded in northern Honshu and Hokkaido. The Central Meteorological Observatory warned that "Babs" appeared to be retracing the path of the great 1954 storm which caused the Toya Maru disaster, drowned that September when a typhoon sank the Toya Maru and four other ferries between Honshu and Hokkaido.

Fearing the worst, big and little ships in the north hurried to their harbors.

Leaving death and ruin behind, houses, roads and railroads in the southern Japanese island of Kyushu, Typhoon Babs raged through the Tushima Strait this afternoon and into the Sea of Japan.

Sheriff Says Gambling To Be Closed

Coin Concessions, Numbered Drawings Among Those Cited

The usual string of coin tossing and bingo type concessions will be missing from the carnival grounds this year according to information received from Sheriff John Taylor when questioned about what effect the crackdown on gambling would have.

When questioned by a reporter this morning about the array of games of chance generally found on the carnival grounds each year, Sheriff Taylor said, "I have informed the state authorities that I do not want any games of chance operated on the fair grounds and that any concessions operating with an element of chance should be closed."

In further discussion, the Sheriff said, "Such games as bingo and coin operated machines where there is more chance than skill will be regarded as gambling. The interpretation of gambling as handed down recently will be followed in determining which concessions should not be allowed to operate."

The Supreme Court ruling held that when the three elements—chance, consideration and prize—are present, there is a violation of the lottery laws.

Interpretation of the law by the Attorney General's office also states that, "Contests in which an individual signs name and address on a numbered ticket stub which is dropped in a box for drawing and prize is awarded the holder of other half of numbered ticket constitutes a lottery."

Hot Weather Is Forecast For Missouri

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Most of Missouri is in for more hot weather.

What has looked like promising surges of relief from the north, have largely fizzled out before reaching too far into the state.

The forecast is for scattered showers or thunderstorms mostly in the north with some cooler weather in the northeast and extreme north sections Saturday.

But for the rest of the state will be more hot weather with Saturday's highs from 100 to 105 in the southwest.

Kansas City had a high of 104 yesterday—equaling the all-time mark for the day—but this morning a thunderstorm dumped nearly half an inch on parts of the city and dropped the temperature 16 degrees.

The storm was accompanied by 100-mile-an-hour winds, which disrupted electrical service in nearby Platte County.

Joplin and Butler were the hottest spots in the state yesterday, each with 105. Springfield had 102 and St. Joseph, 100.

Temperatures for the next five days, the weather bureau said, will average 2 to 5 degrees above seasonal normals. Little or no precipitation is expected in the south. An average of .50 to .75 is expected in the north.

Made to Order

If it stays like this, Saturday will be a perfect day for the big parade and the start of the Missouri State Fair.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms tonight and Saturday. Some cooler Saturday night. Low tonight near 75; high Saturday near 95.

The temperature at 7 a.m. was 75, 70 at 8 a.m. and 95 at 1 p.m. Rainfall .25 inch.

The temperature one year ago today, high 90, low 54; two years ago, high 96, low 74; and three years ago, high 85, low 61.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks, 54.7, steady.

'Missouri on Parade' Opens Fair Saturday

"Missouri on Parade", sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, will officially open the Missouri State Fair Saturday morning. The big parade, of which Wes Murphy is superintendent, will start at 10 o'clock from Seventh and Ohio and move north on Ohio to Main; west on Main to Osage, south on Osage to Third; west on Third to State Fair Blvd., south on State Fair to the State Fairground where it will circle the grounds and come in from the north in front of the grandstand. Here the awards for the three top winning floats will be presented.

The marching units, however, will be taken out at Third and Grand, and go by bus to Fifth and State Fair Blvd., where they will again take their places in the line of march.

One of the features of this parade will be the antique cars, most of them being brought to Sedalia by the Horseless Carriage Association and these cars will be an attraction at the Fairground, the Antique Auto Show which is free.

Something else unusual will be the matched appaloosa mules and show wagon. The appaloosa mules are black and white spotted.

There will be units from Whiteman Air Force Base; Ft. Leonard Wood; Grandview Air Force Base; the U. S. Naval Reserve Drum and Bugle Corps Brigade, St. Louis; dignitaries, floats, bands, marching units, horses, mules, a dancing elephant, clowns and various other things that will make a wonderful parade.

Dignitaries in the parade will be: Governor Phil M. Donnelly, Lt. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., and Mrs. Blair, Commissioner of Agriculture L. C. Carpenter and family; Secretary of the Missouri State Fair, W. H. Ritzenthaler and family; Secretary of State Walter H. Toberman; Haskell Holman, state auditor; George Hubert Bates, state treasurer; John M. Dalton, attorney general; dignitaries from Ft. Tomorrow, Aug. 18, the opening day of the 54th Annual Missouri State Fair, will be designated as Fair Secretaries' and Children's Day. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free at the entrance gates.

All carnival rides will be 9 cents for children under 12 until 6 p.m. Saturday evening.

'Show-Me Show' Opens--

Activity Quickens With Fair Opening Preparations

Activity has quickened pace at the site of the 54th Annual Missouri State Fair in the past few days. Exhibits and displays have been moving into the fairgrounds from all over the state and the midwest. The carnival arrived by train, truck and car on Monday night and Tuesday and immediately began setting up for the exposition on its mile-long midway. Livestock from over the state began arriving on Thursday and continued on through Friday and early Saturday morning. Fair personnel are busy locating concession rights, trailer lodging, livestock stalls and making the necessary arrangements for the opening of the "Show-Me Show."

Saturday morning marks the opening of the gala nine-day state fair with the "Missouri On Parade" event through the downtown streets of Sedalia and into the fairgrounds. It also starts the throng of people through the gates of the Midwest's Finest Fair. It is expected that the attendance record of an excess of 104,000 on the first Sunday last year will be surpassed this year. The "Show-Me Show" this year will include top performances and exhibits in many fields. Included on the agenda for the state fair exposition are live stock exhibits, agriculture exhibits, home economics exhibits, horse race, an ice skating revue, many high school bands, a mile-long carnival, horse shows, auto races, motorcycle races, and many other features throughout the grounds.

Premiums have been increased for this year's fair in seven of the twenty-seven departments.

The traffic situation at the fair will be somewhat alleviated this year due to the traffic signs that have been placed about the entrances to the grounds and on the major roadways into and away from them. Motorists are urged by the state highway patrol and the city police to use caution and courtesy on the state roads and in the city streets at this time of great traffic hazard.

Much work has gone into the preparation of the annual state fair. Personnel have carried heavy loads to give the residents of the state of Missouri the Finest Fair in the Midwest. Come on out and enjoy the 54th State Fair which begins its nine-day activity on Saturday, August 18.

All 38 Votes From Missouri To Humphrey

Vice-Presidential Choice; Leaves Way Open for Switch

CHICAGO (AP)—Missouri delegates decided today to cast all their 38 votes for Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota for the Democratic vice presidential nomination. But they left the way open for a possible last-minute switch.

James L. Paul of Pineville, Mo., put it like this after a closed door caucus:

"We want Humphrey—unless Stevenson wants someone else." Earlier it had appeared the delegation was split and some of its votes might go for Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee.

Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., delegation chairman, made it clear individual delegates still could express a choice other than Humphrey if they spoke up before the roll call started.

He said about half a dozen delegates remained uncommitted in the informal poll for Humphrey. Missouri has 76 delegates with one-half vote each.

Some delegates had expressed a desire to cast their vice-presidential vote for Sen. Stuart Symington, the man they back all the way for the presidential nomination.

But Symington said he was "not available" for the vice presidency.

In the presidential voting last night, the Missouri group carried out its plan to "stick with Stu" to the finish.

Things happened too fast at the end for them to switch to the winning Stevenson.

Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., the delegation chairman, cast all of Missouri's 38 votes under the unit rule for Symington when the roll was called. That was as the Missourians planned.

Then, when it was apparent Stevenson was a landslide winner, Hennings tried to poll the delegation in the convention floor confusion. He tried twice and on the final round came up with 32 1/2 for Stevenson, five bitter enders for Symington and one-half vote for Averell Harriman.

But speaker Sam Rayburn, the convention chairman, announced Stevenson as the winner before Hennings could get the floor. Several other delegations also were clamoring for recognition but Rayburn ignored them.

Thus Symington finished fourth with 45 votes behind Stevenson, Harriman and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Unquestionably, there was drama in this meeting of the new champion and the "Old Man from Missouri" whom he had whipped and stripped naked of political

live through a kafka-like affair in a haze of confused exhaustion. Give them a touchy issue, surround it with parliamentary complexities, and almost anything can happen.

Mr. Truman, in a surprising reversal of form, regained face by urging acceptance of the majority civil rights report. Nonetheless, his standing in the party is diminished. Some of those closest to him in the past thought it unforgivable for him — he was the president — to put the finger on Stevenson the way he did. He may be in the "I told you so business" if Stevenson loses, but that won't be much consolation.

Oddly enough it was a rather elderly soul, a Stevenson backer, who called the shot on this convention Sunday last. Eleanor Roosevelt is of the past, but thinks in terms of today. The problems of today are not those that faced FDR. A new approach is wanted. And new men. That was the essence of her message. And she made her point without employing a nifty ancient phrase about fearing fear on a cross of gold.

Several things that didn't happen also are worth a passing glance. The favorite sons were still off the reservation when Stevenson went over the top. Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Texas Kingmaker, fizzled. His fellow Texan, Speaker Sam Rayburn, the convention chairman, lost the vice presidential veto power he has enjoyed in other years.

Johnson said he'd take any vice presidential nominee except Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Both Johnson and Rayburn, in the strongest language, told Stevenson not to let the nomination go to the convention floor. They were thanked for their views. Both are doing a slow burn.

Stevenson did throw the vice presidential nomination to the floor, and in a way that pricks the GOP, which had just about suppressed Harold Stassen's dump - Nixon campaign. Reporters, incidentally, doubted whether the convention will have all the freedom Stevenson implied, for they were calling "Who is it" as the candidate left the platform last night.

And that's the way it was.

Fires

The Sedalia fire department was called to the residence of C. R. Clemmons, 13th and Summit, about 7:10 p.m. Thursday.

A large tree in front of Mr. Clemmons' home had caught fire. The department extinguished the blaze and the tree was saved.

A burning tree at 13th and Summit caused runs by the fire companies Thursday evening. The fire call was at 4:35 p.m. and several tanks of water was poured into the hollow tree. Fire company No. 1 answered a still alarm, returned to the scene at 6:42 p.m. when the fire flared up again.

Accidents

Two motor vehicles were in collision at 410 South Osage about 7:50 a.m. Friday doing damage to both and no occupants were injured.

Involved was a 1953 tudor Chevrolet sedan driven by Leonard A. Gross, Warsaw, who was turning east in an alley between Fourth and Fifth, and a 1953 Chevrolet pickup which was parked on Osage and headed north between Fourth and Fifth.

The right front fender on the sedan and the left rear fender on the truck were damaged.

J. R. Sheridan Is Speaker At Muscular Dystrophy Meet

J. R. Sheridan, national representative of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, was the speaker at the meeting of the Pettis County Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association Monday night held at the Boonslick Regional Library and also showed a film of a camp set up especially for people with muscular dystrophy. The film shows the youngsters playing ping pong, fishing and doing other things, of course, with the help of someone for they are not able to use their own muscles to do things. This disease, Sheridan explained is where the muscles turn to fat. The cause of it is not known so there can be no cure until they find the cause. Research is being made to try to find what causes this but it takes money, much money for research.

Sheridan praised the Pettis County Chapter for its work and the publicity about it's organization stating it exceeded all other chapters over the four state area he is over.

A check for $164.68 was presented Mrs. Lily Thomas, president of the MDA by Mrs. Frank Fisher, president of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club. The money was the proceeds from an ice cream social given recently by the Missouri Pacific Women's Club given for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. This is the second year this organization has given a social to make money to aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Dr. D. C. Proctor, has been appointed by the Pettis County Medical Society to be the official representative to the MDA and Mrs. Proctor and Mrs. J. W. Boger were appointed as official representatives of the Medical Society Auxiliary.

E. F. Bowers, president of the Greater Kansas City Muscular Dystrophy was also present at the meeting.

"The state of Missouri offers you the greatest leadership. Symington has the confidence, respect, appeal and love of the working people everywhere. He has a warm personality that inspires trust, integrity and character."

"Senator Symington is a firm believer that government should be for all the people."

Kiwanis Hears WAFB Chaplain In Noon Meet

"The Middle East and the World Today" was the subject of a talk by Maj. Melvin J. Addington, Whiteman Air Force Base chaplain, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker who had a tour of duty in the Middle East and Africa traced the development of civilization among the peoples in that center of historical growth and the extensiveness of their influence on nation's bordering the Mediterranean Sea.

Maj. Addington was introduced by Henry Salveter, program chairman. He announced there would be no formal program next Thursday which is Sedalia day at the Missouri State Fair, although there would be the regular luncheon session.

At the August 30 meeting he stated that the program would be prepared by members of 4-H clubs under direction of Herman Pack, of the Pettis County Farm Bureau.

Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Miss Judy Case as accompanist.

Invocation was by the Rev. Lee F. Soxman.

Church Will Break Ground
For Building
A special program has been planned for Sunday afternoon, Aug. 19 at the Boonville Street Mission of the East Sedalia Baptist Church. The Rev. Walter P. Arnold, former pastor of the East Church, will be the guest speaker at the ground-breaking event which is to be held at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

A building site consisting of three lots at the corner of Emmet and Walnut has already been given by one of the members of the Mission. The program of the afternoon calls for the turning of several shovels of dirt on this new location.

The work of the mission began in September, 1954, with the taking of a religious census. Shortly after that a store building was purchased at the corner of Boonville and New York by the East Sedalia Baptist Church. It is this building which houses the congregation at the present time.

The first service was held on the second Sunday of October, 1954, with an attendance of 63 in the Sunday School. In November of that year the Rev. H. W. Chaney, who was at that time superintendent of missions of Harmony Baptist Association, preached the first revival and served as pastor of the mission from the time it started until January, 1955, when the Rev. H. E. Hansen was called to be pastor.

Superintendent
The pastor's subject at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning will be "A Worthy Church Program" and in the evening at 8 o'clock "Walking Together As Friends." At the morning hour the special music will be a duet by Mrs. Charles Farley and Kenneth Farley, entitled "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." There will also be special music at the evening hour.

On Wednesday evening at 7:45 there will be a meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday School and at 8 o'clock the pastor will conduct the worship hour.

At this season of the year the church is giving attention to the selection of officers and teachers of all other organizations in preparation for the beginning of the new church year Oct. 1.

Carl Yessen was recently elected Sunday School superintendent and Bill Thomas Training Union director. All other officers and teachers of the Sunday School and the Training Union leaders will be elected in the near future.

One year ago the average Sunday School attendance or the month of June was 69 and this year showed an average of 110 for the months of March, April, and May. In addition to the school enrollment the mission also has a fully organized Training Union with an enrollment of 69 persons.

One Elected State Officer—
Sedalians Attend Christian
Youth Camp at Pershing Park
Four Sedalia young people were delegates to the Missouri United Christian Youth Movement Camp held this past week at Pershing State Park. Those attending were Patti Moore, Donna Marie Smith, Viola Bruce and Shirley Jean Jackson. These young people were official delegates of the Pettis County UCYM Council, of which Susan Schien is president. The UCYM is an interdenominational organization of Protestant young people.

Viola Bruce of Sedalia was elected state chairman of the Outreach Commission. Other officers elected were Jim Cook, Aurora, president; Winnie Precht, Mexico, vice-president; and Ronnie Powell, Columbia, secretary.

"The Huddle," nickname for this camp, was conducted under the supervision of the Rev. A. Greig Ritchie, executive director of the Missouri Council of Churches, and the Rev. Gilbert

Murphy of the Council of Churches of Greater Kansas City.

The Rev. Lawrence Gnanadurai, an exchange student from India, talked about the Indian people, their beliefs, habits and religions. Mrs. Eulalia Corbin of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith spoke about the purpose and educational program of the league.

The Rev. Wilson Cheek of the National Council of Churches, New York, spoke about the Student Exchange Plan.

Part of each day was spent in studying about the five different commissions: faith, witness, outreach, citizenship and fellowship.

Other highlights of the camp included seeing the movie "Martin Luther," a radio skit, "Day of Decision," in which Patti Moore, Donna Marie Smith and Viola Bruce of the Sedalia delegation participated. Movies were shown from the "Look Up and Live" series, a regular feature of the CBS TC network sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

Sunday School Lesson Notes:
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
When Saint Paul, writing to the Christian converts at Corinth (II Corinthians 11:3) expressed the fear that they might be corrupted from "the simplicity that is in Christ," he little realized how much the complexities and incident controversies in historic Christianity would be associated with his name and his Epistles.

Pauline Christianity, if one might so term it, has been anything but simple. Even in Paul's own time it was apparently not all so simple. For Peter (II Peter 3:16) is reported as saying that "beloved Brother Paul" had written in his Epistles

"some things hard to be understood." But in that same passage Peter made it equally plain that "with the wisdom given unto him" Paul had written clearly concerning salvation in Christ. This, I think, is what Paul would have meant by simplicity.

A very real question is whether the Christian world has been fair to Saint Paul. Attention and controversies have been centered chiefly on "the things hard to be understood," in large degree to the neglect of or lack of emphasis upon the clear, understandable, and most important of Paul's writings concerning the Gospel.

These embrace the meaning and application of the Gospel in daily life and relationships, and the primacy of Christian love, as in I Corinthians 13.

How little that great chapter of love has dominated the thoughts and actions of so-called Christian leaders! Too often they have been engaged in loveless controversy with great injustice to Paul, who was chiefly concerned with the love of God and its manifestation among men.

It would be a service if someone would take the time and trouble to go through all the recorded writings of St. Paul and separate the simplicities, which I think would be found to be "the simplicity that is in Christ," from the complexities, the "things hard to be understood."

In a brief way may I suggest what one might find? First, I think, there would be found a clear statement of what Paul called "the glorious gospel of the blessed God" (I Timothy 1:11). It is the gospel of the free grace of God as the source of man's salvation.

Paul wrote much of the mystery of the Cross, but I think that in general there is a failure to recognize that basically Paul repudiated the idea of sacrifice and punishment, as in the Jewish ritual and the concept of the scapegoat, and the idea of sacrifice as appeasement to a divine being in practically all religions.

What Paul asserted was that any sacrifice in the Christian conception was inherent in God Himself. "Christ is the propitiation."

If one reverts to the Gospel as expressed in the Parable of the Prodigal Son (Luke 15), surely it would be absurd, and destroy all beauty of the action, if it were suggested that the Father's forgiveness could be given only by making someone else suffer. So, salvation, Paul declared, was of God's free grace.

Second, with great clearness Paul makes the grace of God in man's salvation the rule of the saved life. The Christian recipient of grace must live the life of grace, in godliness and love toward his fellowmen. Paul's counsels concerning Christian living are clear.

Third, with much clearness Paul asserts his belief in immortality, especially in I Corinthians 15.

To these one would add the clarity and richness of Paul's prayers and doxologies, as in Ephesians 3 and II Thessalonians 2:16, 17, only two of many similar passages.

Claims Israel Attack
On Egyptian Positions
CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The semi-official Middle East News Agency said Israeli forces attacked Egyptian positions in the Gaza coastal strip today. No details were given.

The report came 24 hours after Israeli army spokesmen in Jerusalem said three soldiers and a woman riding an Israeli bus were killed in an ambush in the Negev Desert. The attackers were not identified.

Eight Men
Received First
Nominations
CHICAGO (AP) — Eight others besides winner Adlai Stevenson got first-ballot votes for the presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention.

Before the convention made Stevenson's nomination "by acclamation," the 1,372 delegate votes were divided this way among the candidates in the order in which they were nominated:

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, nominated by Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington as a "man of the people." He withdrew.

Stevenson, nominated by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts as "best vote-getter" and "most appealing figure." 905 1/2 votes.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, nominated by John Connally of Texas as a leader of "fierce courage." 80.

Rep. James Davis of Georgia, nominated by Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia as a defender of the "Southern way of life." 33.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, nominated by Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma as "a fighting liberal of new vision." 210.

Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, nominated by Joseph J. Leary of Kentucky as "a seasoned campaigner who likes a good fight." 36 1/2.

Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, nominated by John S. Begley of Massachusetts as a man of "patience, charity and judgement." He released his delegates.

Former Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia, nominated by Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia as possessing "all the qualities... essential to the qualifications of president." 32 1/2.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, nominated by Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri as a "stalwart in the front ranks of our party." 45 1/2.

Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina, nominated by Sen. Thomas A. Wofford of South Carolina as a man who "has made vivid again... the fundamental rights and responsibilities of the separate states." 23 1/2.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, not nominated formally. 5 1/2.

Heads Up During Fair Week

Coincident with opening of the Missouri State Fair Saturday there will come into Sedalia an influx of thousands of automobiles.

The traffic flow to and from the fair grounds, particularly on Sundays, has been increasing every year. Parking lots in and off the grounds were packed last year and will be again next week.

The potential for accidents will be increased a thousand fold in the Sedalia area considering the fact that under average conditions throughout the nation August is usually the worst of the summer months, accident-wise. If traffic fatality statistics repeat the pattern set for August in previous years, more than 3,000 may die in auto accidents this month.

Area residents can contribute to keeping down the accident rate during Fair Week by exercising redoubled vigilance to partially neutralize the effects caused by careless and eager beaver drivers.

Missouri State Highway patrolmen have done a beautiful job supervising traffic in and around the fair grounds in past years. Their services have accounted for a remarkable lessening of major and fender-bending accidents. They'll be on the job this year and we hope Sedalia and out-of-town visitors will show them appreciation by conforming courteously to their supervision instead of reacting to a temptation to smart-off.

Right now it looks as though the national auto death toll will reach 42,000, an all-time high. Last year August, September and October were the peak months for casualties. In August alone 113 died on Missouri highways. The three month total was 374.

The disregard of safe driving rules seems utterly insane after so much preaching about it year after year. But the facts and figures are recorded and may ultimately awaken Missouri and other delinquent states to adopt speed laws and a Uniform Traffic Code, devices which can reduce 10,000,000 accidents a year costing some $5 billion, 1,500,000 injuries and 42,000 deaths.

Sensible Sedalians should do their part in minimizing this toll by using extra precautions Fair Week.

One particular point we would like to emphasize is the duty of parents in our community to instruct and caution their bicycle-riding children. Fair Week will be particularly dangerous for youngsters. They had better not try their usual gymnastics on the city streets, or ride their bikes without lights during the evening hours.

Vigilance and basic common sense will pay off in lives saved and injuries avoided.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Delegates Resent Pressure Drives

By DREW PEARSON

CHICAGO—The democratic system of primary elections designed to keep the party bosses from dominating the U. S. Government has received two body blows in the last four years. One was when Adlai Stevenson was put across by Harry Truman and the party bosses in 1953, though he hadn't run in a single state primary. Second is this week when the same Harry Truman pushed Averell Harriman to the front, though Harriman hadn't run in a single primary. Some delegates resent the fact that a wealthy man can come to the convention at the last minute and with the power of the Union Pacific Railroad and Harry Truman behind him, become a major candidate. Other delegates don't see it that way, have had an eye on getting some of the Harriman money to finance state campaigns.

Gov. Happy Chandler of Kentucky is spending as much money here as some of the front-running candidates. It's coming from Col. John Gottlieb, the big trucker who raised a lot of Happy's campaign funds, together with some money from the Philadelphia Wideners who go in for Kentucky horses.

When Jiggs Donohue, the Kefauver manager, asked for convention tickets from the Democratic National Committee, he received 12 ribbons marker: "Not good for admission to the convention." He asked what good they were and was told "For Souvenirs." He sent them back.

Chip Roberts, former Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee couldn't get a ticket. He finally bought a box for $1,000. Dick Reynolds, the big tobacco man, couldn't get a ticket, finally bought a box for $1,000 too.

It will take time for scars to heal from this convention. Franklin Roosevelt Jr., a Stevenson delegate from the pro-Harriman New York, delegation, stopped to greet Senator Lehman, also from New York also a Stevenson delegate. Elder statesman Lehman had a seat in the back row. Note—Lehman and Roosevelt are being called "Displaced Persons" by Harriman members of the New York delegation. Roosevelt was opposed by Harriman for Governor, and the Roosevelt family hasn't forgiven him since.

Scared Key—Noter
"I was scared to death, the whole time," said Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, the routine Democratic keynoter, after he finished razzing the Republicans for one hour.

"How do you like my socks," he changed the subject.

The young orator had chosen his wardrobe carefully. With an eye to the intense light of television, he wore a dark blue suit, light blue shirt, dark tie, was impeccably dressed. Down around his ankles where the TV cameras could—n't focus was a pair of black socks with huge white donkeys on them.

"Isn't that something?" He laughed.
The friends agreed that it was indeed "something."

No Canal Talk
Most important of the scores of backstage huddles held during this convention was that between Sen. Lyndon and Adlai Stevenson at which Johnson, laid down the terms under which he would switch his delegates to Stevenson. Regardless of what his critics may think of Stevenson, he wouldn't deal. If he had it would have cost him a lot of heartaches.

Stevenson called on Johnson in his private hotel suite. They were supposed to talk about the Suez Canal. Actually Adlai asked: "why are you doing this?"

He referred of course to Johnson's sudden decision switch from an inactive favorite son to an active candidate busy as a bird dog rallying Southern votes.

Johnson's reply was couched in the pious

Adlai's Road to Presidency Is Uphill

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson can be happy now that he got the Democratic presidential nomination the way he wanted to get it.

But the road to the presidency itself is all uphill. Just before he turned off the light early today and crawled into bed he must have sighed to himself:

"I don't get another minute's rest until after election night next Nov. 6."

One thing is sure; if he hadn't won the nomination last night, it wouldn't have been because he didn't try. He had prepped for it since he lost his first try at the presidency in 1952.

He had a jinx on his back: his overwhelming defeat by President Eisenhower four years ago. He had to convince the politicians to trust him for another try when the political polls are saying Eisenhower is the favorite again.

Then a last-minute blow came from former President Truman who, in his desire to get the nomination for Averell Harriman, told the convention and all American voters Stevenson couldn't win in 1956.

The World Today—

Adlai's Road to Presidency Is Uphill

It was a strange piece of business for a politician like Truman who knew when he said it the Republicans could use it this fall against Stevenson—if nominated.

In the end, all Truman's blow proved was that he had lost his influence and that control of the party was now in the hands of younger men. The blow may have done Stevenson good, since many people dislike Truman.

At least it proved in a dramatic way that Stevenson no longer can be said to owe allegiance to the former President.

If Sen. Estes Kefauver had not quit the race before the convention opened and thrown his support to Stevenson, there might have been a real struggle and perhaps a deadlock letting someone else get the nomination.

Kefauver's move clinched it for Stevenson. The former Illinois governor came here this week far in front and he stayed. The big claims the forces of Gov. Harriman of New York made for their man proved to be hot air.

Your Child's Health—Some Diet Problems Are Solved, But Others Arise

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

In the not-so-distant past thousands of infants died from diarrheal diseases or other results of contaminated or unsatisfactory food. Other thousands suffered from such diseases as rickets or scurvy resulting from insufficient vitamins in their diet.

A Boston physician recently pointed out that modern safeguards against contamination of milk have worked so well that the old name "summer complaint" is practically meaningless to today's young mothers. This has resulted partly from the almost universal use of pasteurized milk and household refrigeration.

Another subject frequently mentioned a few years ago was what was called "feeding problems" in infants. These infants were switched from one formula to another because they did not seem to be doing well. Now many such difficulties are recognized as coming from chronic infections, emotional instability in the mother and other causes unrelated to the food itself. Feeding problems still occur, but seem to be less common and troublesome than they were 25 years ago.

Perhaps all the feeding problems of infants and children have not yet been solved and this is certainly the case in certain parts of the world. For example, kwashiorkor is considered to be a both common and severe nutritional disorder of children in the tropics and semitropics.

Questions of infant diet still remain. The Boston doctor wonders, for example, whether the trend to giving infants solid foods at ever younger ages is entirely desirable. "No compelling evidence of physiological advantage or disadvantage attending the early feeding of solid foods has appeared," he writes.

Another development is the greater use of foods especially processed for children. Those foods which are canned or frozen can be made ready easily, but this does not necessarily mean that they are the best.

The physician suggested that dependence on a special type of prepared food might tend to confer on a child the attributes of special delicacy or invalidism, or the requirement for overprotection, which do not lead to the easy, relaxed acceptance of life.

Finally, the question is raised as

The statement by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas that he was a serious candidate could never be taken seriously. He never developed any real strength.

But no Southerner could have won the nomination this year when civil rights is a big issue. And the Democrats truly would have lost a major issue—Eisenhower's health—if they had picked Johnson. The senator himself suffered a heart attack in 1955, a couple of months before Eisenhower's.

While Eisenhower has an edge starting out in this campaign, Stevenson's chances will soar if the President has to withdraw before election day for physical reasons.

It's questionable the Republicans have anyone but Eisenhower who is as good a vote-getter as Stevenson. Stevenson showed in 1952 he was a ballot-box attraction even though Eisenhower beat him by 6 1/2 million votes.

The vote that year was 33,778,963 for Eisenhower, 27,314,992 for Stevenson.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Notebooks are strange records. People go to meetings, conferences and classes and listen to speakers or group discussions. They write down in their own words the thoughts which impress them as being important. Sometimes the notes are detailed because people wish to study the thoughts of other people and relate the idea to their own thinking.

Our lives are influenced by the things we see, the words we hear and the experiences we have. We constantly make mental notes and apply these memoranda to our own lives. Everything we do is influenced by our past experiences. Many of the influences are lost in the maze of multiple events, but the consolidation is long-lasting.

We destroy letters, clippings and books which pile up in the nooks and crannies of our homes, but the notes we take are cherished above many of our other possessions. Although we seldom refer to the notebooks in our files, we hold them as symbols of the information which belongs to us. We look upon our notes as part of ourselves.

Since we are influenced by other people, we should remember that others are influenced by us. Scores of people are making notes on our words and deeds. Scores of people cherish the words we say.

We could do well to review our words and acts in normal day-by-day living to be sure that we want to be cherished in the notebooks of our friends. We better be certain that our influence is worth saving.

If we pattern ourselves on our religious ideals we shall not be liabilities in the scorebooks of our friends and associates.

Money Helps a Lot—

Possible to Own Million And Be a Good President

By Walter Dear

OF OUR WASHINGTON BUREAU
WASHINGTON — If you own a million, can you be a good president, senator or congressman?
Rep. Alvin Bentley, Michigan Republican and millionaire, frankly says yes, it's possible.

"Wealth provides a stable means of assistance. Wealth removes you of the temptation to get yourself mixed up in ethically questionable practices," he commented.

With the money question out of the way, a congressman can conduct an election campaign and then take office without the temptation of losing his principles to his big contributors according to Bentley.

But Bentley didn't say wealth is essential for the public servant. To get elected nowadays costs a lot of money. Present law ignores this fact, Bentley contends, and provides loopholes making evasion of expense limitations possible.

"The limitations are completely unrealistic," he said.

"The emphasis on television is generally responsible for increased costs, so that costs are actually far in excess of the set limits."

The Hatch Act limits campaign contributions to $5,000 for any individual or political committee. In effect, one can set up "blind" committees spending sums far in excess of the $5,000 limit.

Bentley would raise the dollar minimum and then apply "tight" restrictions. One restriction Bentley suggests is that all money spent should be done with the candidate's knowledge and consent.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, would go further than Bentley. He suggested before a Senate committee investigating lobbying practices a formula that would limit campaign contributions to a maximum of $20 each in presidential election years and $5 in years when only a congressman was seeking reelection. Reuther's $5 plan, designed to replace big campaign spending with a broader base of small contributors, would limit the spending to a particular congressman, senator, and presidential nominee.

Other ideas to change campaign spending were introduced in Congress but never survived committee surveillance.

Bentley, incidentally, indicated the Republicans don't have sole title to wealth. He pointed out Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan, as members of the millionaire plan. "Even Adlai Stevenson isn't poor," Bentley said.

Ruth Millett Says—

Frantic Fifties Symbolize Pathetic Fight For Youth

So many women today when they hit the fifties are trying so desperately to be young and gay we might call the age between the forties and sixties the Frantic Fifties.

You see them everywhere, these fifty-ish women who can't sit quietly for five minutes. Their voices are shrill. Their eyes are desperately bright. They seem to feel that if they can't have the center of the stage all the time they are in danger of being shoved abruptly into has-beens.

They are frantically busy, frantically gay, frantically trying to hang onto a youth that is already gone.

In the faces of such women there is no tranquility, no calm, no real interest in other people.

Their bright smiles proclaim their attention when others talk but their eyes wander.

In their endless fight against appearing "matronly" they starve until their figures fit into a size 12, obviously unaware that they have also starved hard lines into their faces.

Clothes aren't just an interest with these women frantically fighting to keep from looking like what they are. They're a fetish with these middle-aged women who should have kissed youth goodbye a long time ago.

In an article called "Bottled Lightning" in the July Harper's Bazaar there is a line that middle-aged women might well give a little thought to.

"In the young and beautiful vivacity is delightful, but add a few years to vivacity and you have the jitters; give wild enthusiasm a tired voice and it begins to pant."

When serenity is so appealing why should any woman make the fifties frantic by trying desperately to hold onto the vivacity of youth? It can never be duplicated by anyone no longer young.

swear was going to be when he asked: "Who?"

"Mr. Brown," said the little girl. So—as far as she is concerned it is William F. Brown for president, and why not? After all he is at the convention as a delegate and in her opinion he is the best man there.—H.L.

WATCHING THE Democrats at their convention on television a small girl was just about as enthused as her father. The talk about who would be nominated seemed to be the main thing. The little girl listened as they talked of Stevenson, Harriman and all of the favorite sons.
"I know who is going to be nominated," the little girl said. "You do!" said the surprised father who wondered what her an-

Sedalia Takes 2nd Win in BJ Playoff

Can Capture Championship With Victory at Brookfield Tonight

Sedalia's Bee Jays padded their cushion with a 7-4 win in the best-of-five Central Missouri Ban Johnson playoff series against the Brookfield Bombers here Thursday night to take a 2-0 edge in games.

The locals need only to best the Bombers tonight at Brookfield to sew up the league championship.

Thursday night's victory was a continuation of Sedalia's amazing string—now 14 straight—which began early in the second half season of play.

Both teams went scoreless until the bottom of the third inning when Sedalia's Norm Ulrich loosed an inside-the-park home run with one man on base to take a two-run lead.

Brookfield managed to knot the score in the top of the fourth on three walks and a wild pitch. But the Bee Jays bounced back with two more in the bottom half of that frame when Jim Harvey tagged an inside-the-park homer with a man on.

From then on, Sedalia held the command by scoring twice in the fifth and once in the seventh while Brookfield marked once in each the sixth and seventh frames.

Sedalia's ace hurler, Clyde Kubli, who humbled the Bombers 9-3 Wednesday night, was called in for relief work in the sixth inning to doze rally efforts by the opposition. Elroy Burton had loaded the bases with no outs when Kubli came on to blow down three Brookfield batters in a row on strikeouts.

The Bee Jays also had a close call in the fifth when Charlie Newman had to retreat to the center field wall to snare a towering clout by Duane Best of Brookfield.

Elroy Burton received credit for the win while Al Runge, was tagged as the loser.

Bobby Case and Jim Fall aided the Sedalians by stealing two bases each during the game.

Sedalia leaves Brookfield at 5 o'clock this evening from Hamilton's Service Station for the third and decisive playoff meeting.

Probable hurlers tonight will be Ken Buhlig or Kenny Hayob for the Bee Jays against Gray or Cleveland for Brookfield.

Ellis Kinder Still Has Some Fire Left In That Right Arm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ellis Kinder, a well-traveled hurler of both leagues, still has some fire in that right arm.

The 42-year-old veteran worked the last 3 1-3 innings at Kansas City yesterday to preserve a 6-5 victory for the Chicago White Sox over the A's as Minnie Minoso's seventh-inning triple drove home the deciding run.

The victory was Chicago's third straight, over the A's. Kansas City knocked out starter Jim Wilson and continued a 14-hit attack against Gerry Skaley, Jim McDonald and Paul Lapalme until Kinder took over.

In St. Louis last night, Milwaukee's Lew Burdette hurled a five-hit 8-0 shutout win to give the Braves the series, 2-1.

Stan (The Man) Musial collected three of the Redbird hits including the 1,072nd extra base hit of his career, setting a new National League record.

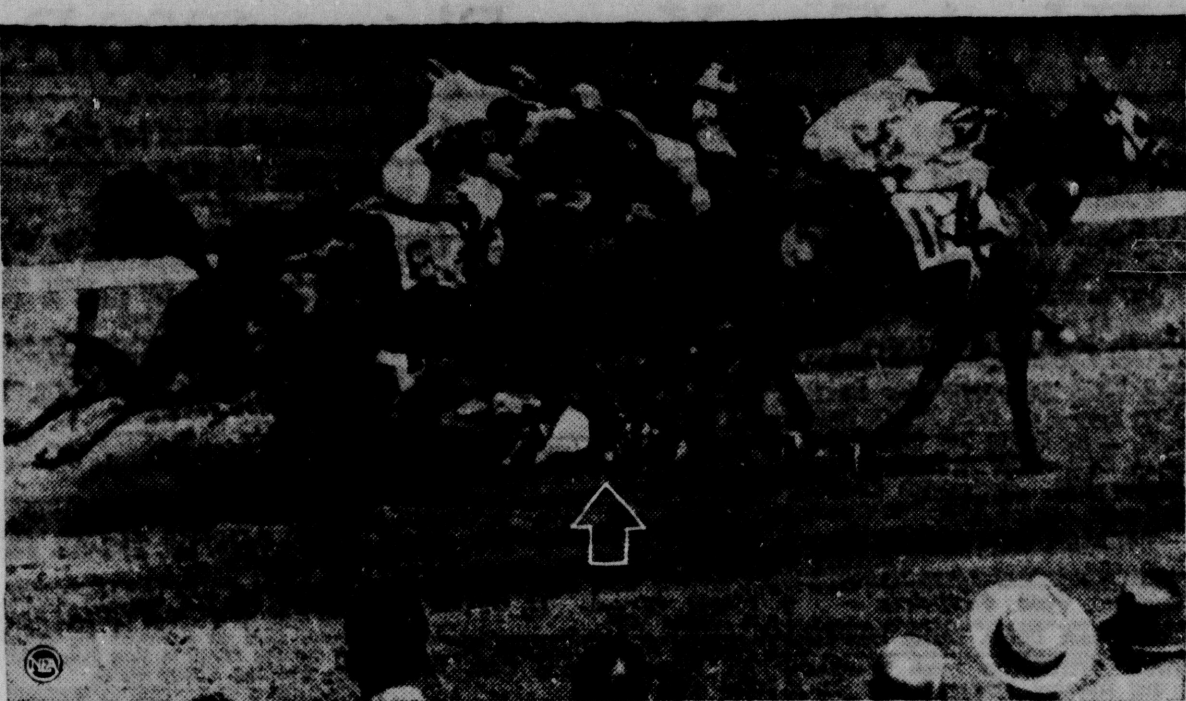

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was the victim of a five-run Brave first inning after which the game was as good as over.

It was Mizell's ninth defeat against 11 wins.

Mickey McNeal, Sedalia, fifth and Mr. Smethers, Sedalia, sixth.

There will be another horseshoe pitching tournament at Washington Park on Labor Day, Sept. 3 at which six prizes will be awarded by Reids Grocery. W. L. Reid is a former horseshoe pitcher and has always kept an interest in the contests.

Several years ago when he was more active in "pitching the shoes," Reid was one of the top "ringers."

LUCK RIDES WITH JOCKEY—Willie Cox and his mount, Ginger Miss, sprawl on the Hazel Park track in Detroit as the field roars by in the third race. Spectators gasped, believing the jockey and filly trampled. Neither was injured, however, Cox coming back to ride in the feature.

Denies 'Spitter' Charges—

Burdette Stands Chance At NL's Best Shutout Hurler

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Lew Burdette, with or without an illegal "spitter," stands a chance of becoming the National League's best shutout pitcher in 14 years while figuring as one of the big guys in Milwaukee's battle for the pennant.

The 29-year-old right-hander, who had only seven shutouts in his five-year major league career before this season, added his sixth of the campaign with a neat five-hit, 8-0 victory last night over the St. Louis Cardinals—who by the way, lead the claim that the stuff Burdette throws isn't always dry. ("Criminy," says Card Manager Fred Hutchinson, "you can sit on the bench and see him load 'em.")

With his six shutouts, Burdette—who denies the "spitter" charges—is the first NL right-hander to throw that many in one season since the Phils' Robin Roberts did it to the lead the league in 1961. The 10 Mort Cooper hung up for the Cards in 1942 hasn't been touched since 1948. No other NL pitcher has counted seven shutouts in one year since Harry Brecheen, another Card, in 1948.

Last night's job gave Burdette 15 victories and a league-leading earned run average of 2.53.

The Cincinnati Redlegs slipped to third place with a 4-2 loss to the Chicago Cubs that allowed Brooklyn to regain second with a 13-inning, 10-9 victory over the New York Giants.

Pittsburgh made it two in a row over Philadelphia, 4-1.

In the American, Boston's Willard Nixon, riding a no-hitter for seven innings, two-hit the New York Yankees for a 2-1 decision. That trimmed the Yanks' lead to 9 1/2 games as runner-up Cleveland beat Detroit 5-4. Chicago's White Sox defeated Kansas City 6-5 in the only other game scheduled.

Three of the hits off Burdette, who didn't walk a man, were by Stan Musial—one a double that gave The Man the NL extra-base hit record with 1,072, one more than Mel Ott managed in 22 seasons. The Braves iced it with five runs in the first inning to beat Wilmer Mizell.

Duke Snider's 33rd home run—his first off a southpaw this season—broke up a 4-hour, 48-minute battle for the Dodgers. It came on a 3-2 pitch by Lefty Dick Littlefield, sixth Giant pitcher. Hank Thompson and Willie Mays each had three-run homers. Thompson's pinch-hit swing tied it in the sixth. Don Drysdale, 10th hurler used in the 33-hit game, was the winner.

Sam Jones fanned 13, high for one game in the NL this season, while knocking off the Redlegs on a seven-hitter. Solly Drake's second RBI double broke a 2-all tie in the seventh.

Two-run homers by Bill Virvon and Bill Mazeroski won for the Pirates and Vernon Law, who tossed a six-hitter, Robin Roberts lost it.

Yogi Berra's eighth-inning single broke up Nixon's no-hit bid, and the veteran right-hander then hung on for his third victory over the Yankees this season as they scored on two errors and a pinch single by Mickey McDermott in the ninth. Jackie Jensen's 16th homer put it away for the Red Sox, who got just four hits off loser Don Larsen.

Women's AAU Championship Opens Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Women's National AAU Track and Field Championship, a preview of next week's Olympic tryouts in Washington, opened here today.

The first of the two-day program on Franklin Field was devoted to some 100 girls between the ages of 14 and 17.

Tomorrow, the women, augmented by some of the better girls' prospects, will compete in an 11-event program which should give Uncle Sam a pretty good idea of the talent he can count on for next fall's Olympic Games at Melbourne.

Mrs. Frances Kaszubski, chairman of the Women's Olympic Track and Field Committee, predicts that this year's women's track team will make the best Olympic showing in 24 years.

America has won only one field event since 1932 and one individual track title since 1936 in international games. Alice Coachman won the high jump in 1948, and Helen Stephens the 100-meter dash at Berlin in 1936.

When the women take over, eleven defending champions will place titles in competition. They include Karen Anderson, Lansdowne, Pa., Pan-American javelin queen; last year's only double winner, Mae Fagg, Tennessee State University sprint star; Nancy Phillips, New York broad jump champion; Wanda Wejzgowicz, St. Louis, national shotput queen; Isabel Daniels, Tennessee State, 50-meter dash titlist, and Mildred McDaniel, high jump champion.

Indianapolis Gets Within a Half-Game Of Wobbling Bears

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Indianapolis all but overhauled Denver's wobbling Bears Thursday night in their battle for the American Assn. lead.

The Indians continued their pell-mell late season rush by sweeping a twin bill from St. Paul, 4-1 and 9-5, while Denver was dropping a 5-4 decision to Minneapolis. Indianapolis now trails Denver by only half a game with a 73-53 record matched against Denver's 74-53.

Omaha swept past St. Paul into fourth place by shutting out Louisville 3-0, and Charleston edged Wichita, 9-8, in a game punctuated by eight home runs.

Musial Tops NL's Extra Base Record

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial was relaxing in the dressing room when a sportswriter handed him an all-time National League record sheet which showed him high in almost every department.

"Get that thing outa here," said Hank Sauer, roommate of the St. man. "If he sees himself close to some new record, it'll take him nine years to reach it."

Musial, 35-year-old first baseman-outfielder, had just set a new National League mark for extra base hits.

His 1,072nd was a scorching liner off the right field screen in the seventh inning last night. He'd been chasing the record since last Sunday, when he tied it.

The record was just one of many Stan holds, but it's one of the more significant. Mel Ott of the New York Giants needed 2,730 games and 22 seasons to set the old one. Musial, now in his 14th season, beat it in 2,102 games.

Musial accepted the congratulations of his teammates. No one was happy. The Cardinals had taken an 8-0 licking from Lew Burdette and the Milwaukee Braves.

"This record is nice to have but my chief goal this season is the batting title," Musial said. His three hits last night boosted his average to .316. He's in third place 11 points behind teammate Wally Moon and 23 behind Milwaukee's Hank Aaron.

Musial already has six league batting crowns and a seventh would tie Hall of Famer Rogers Hornsby. Honus Wagner leads with eight.

Stan said his No. 1 goal is 3,000 hits, a total reached by only seven players in baseball history. He needs 266 more.

You get an idea of his stature from his first place standing in slugging percentage (.583). That puts him ahead of such men as Hornsby, John Mize, Chuck Klein, Hack Wilson, Ott and Ralph Kiner.

Fay Crocker Holds Three-Stroke Lead In Norwood Tourney

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fay Crocker, who makes it a habit to finish in the money, holds a three-stroke lead today as a field of 20 pros moves into the second round of the $5,000 Norwood Hills Women's Invitational golf tourney.

The Montevideo, Uruguay, winner took part in all the women's tournaments last year and finished in the money every time.

She toured the hilly, 6,019-yard Norwood Country Club course in 69-five under par—yesterday in the opening round of the four-day tourney.

Beverly Hanson of Apple Valley, Calif., with an opening-day 72, was in second place in the race for the $800 first prize money.

Mickey Mantle Has to Hustle To Outdo Ruth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Is Mickey Mantle hitting home runs fast enough to break Babe Ruth's mark of 60?

The answer is no—Mickey is going to have to step up his pace even though he is 11 games ahead of Ruth's schedule the year the Babe got his record 60 circuit belts.

The Yankee centerfielder, with 42 homers in 114 games, has averaged one every 2.71 games but Ruth got one every 2.57 games in his record year (60 in 154 games).

It took the Babe 125 games and until August 28 to reach the same mark Mantle has made in only 114 games on this August 17.

But Ruth, starting on September 2, hit 17 home runs in 29 days, better than one circuit smash every other game—a record no other player has matched.

It was this stretch-running finish that has blasted the hopes of all major league home run hitters to outstrip the record 60 the Babe set up.

Maybe Mickey can do it—who can say? But if he keeps up his present pace he will fall short, just as Jimmy Foxx did when he hit 58 in 1932 and as Hank Greenberg did when he got a like number in 1938. Both Foxx and Greenberg got far out in front of the Babe's mid-season mark but couldn't come close to matching his phenomenal September finish.

Babe Lichardus, young pro from Hillsdale, N.J., was alone at 65, thanks to a nine-punt front nine.

Shooting 66s were Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Al Balding, Canadian pro.

Twelve more pros were locked at 67, 10 pros and two amateurs carded 68s and 13 additional money players turned in scores of 69.

Cannot Recall Open Contest In Past Years

CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic historians could not recall tonight any convention in which the contest for the vice presidential nomination was completely wide open.

Adlai Stevenson brought roars from the 1936 convention, when he said he wanted its "free processes" to select his running mate.
Stevenson himself noted that "historically" the presidential nominee has in effect picked the vice presidential candidate.

Republican and Democratic conventions have been pretty much alike in this respect.

Sometimes the nominee for president has indicated several men acceptable to him and these have fought it out. But Stevenson's attitude apparently was one of hands off altogether.

Since the Civil War only three Democratic vice presidential candidates have had to go through more than one ballot to gain nomination. It took five to name Arthur Sewell of Maine to the ticket headed by William Jennings Bryan in 1896.

In 1900 Bryan was again the
No. 1 nominee and the Democrats this time chose—on the first ballot—a former vice president by the name of Adlai Stevenson to run with him. That Stevenson was the grandfather of the man the Democrats chose tonight for a second try at the White House.

The elder Stevenson had been elected vice president as Grover
Cleveland's running mate in 1892.
But he and Bryan were defeated.

Thomas R. Marshall was extended to a second ballot before he was chosen to run with Woodrow Wilson in 1912. Four years later he was nominated by acclamation to go on with Wilson to a second term.

Harry S. Truman, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's surprise selection in 1944, was short on the first ballot but won on the second.
Within a year he was president.

In the early days of the party, contests for second place on the ticket were customary. Two ballots were necessary to nominate George M. Dallas of Pennsylvania in 1844, William O. Butler of Kentucky in 1848, William R. King of Alabama in 1852 and John C.
Breckinridge of Kentucky in 1856.

Herschel V. Johnson of Georgia didn't make it until the fifth ballot in 1860.

Every other Democratic vice presidential candidate was named in one ballot—or less, by acclamation.

Radar Speed Trap Wins First Court Test

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—This city's radar speed trap has won its first court test. A Municipal Court jury convicted Jack R.
Lincke, 49, of driving 42 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone last June 28. Lincke, arguing his own case, contended radar could be "me-

Actor Famous For 'Dracula' Dies at Afe 73

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bela Lugosi, famous of his portrayal of the "Dracula" on stage and screen, and only recently conqueror of himself after 17 years of drug addiction, died late yesterday of natural causes. He was 73.

After a long and active career in motion pictures, the Hungarianborn actor surrendered himself to Los Angeles authorities last year, saying he was a hopeless drug addict and wanted a chance of rehabilitation. He said he had started taking dmerol in England in 1938 and never had been able to completely free himself from the use of drugs in one form or another.

He was treated for three months at the nearby metropolitan state hospital in Norwalk, then passed a rigid examination and was released to resume his film career. His last role was in the movie "The Black Sleep."

Lugosi's second wife, the former Hope Lininger of Johnstown, Pa., said she found him dead when she returned home from work. They were married last August. She had encouraged Lugosi to appeal for help in his fight against drug addiction, and he said she was the inspiration for his decision to enter a hospital.

Lugosi's first wife was Lillian
Arch, by whom he had a son, Bela
Jr. They were divorced in 1953.

Elder Terrapin

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Herman Perry can vouch for the long life of a terrapin.
Back in 1914, Perry and Walter McElwee spotted a terrapin as they walked along through this small community. Perry took out his knife and carved two sets of initials, "H.C.P." and "W.M." and the year "1914" on the terrapin's shell.
Perry and McElwee were 15 at the time. They released the terrapin and forgot about it.
The other day the terrapin—carved initials, year and all—turned up again 700 yards from the spot where Perry and McElwee freed it 42 years ago.

IN THE RED—Mike Bonanno's bank account may be a trifle shy, but his sporting instincts run strong—particularly if the horse is a longshot.

Too Many

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Too many cats to move to California prompted Miss Agnes Heinzelmenn to give away 46 Siamese felines.

"What has happened to me fulfills an old legend in Siam," she said.
The story goes that those who own Siamese cats will face economic ruin.

"Well, these cats have just about broken me," she said sadly.
"They cost $5 a day to feed and there's always worm pills, distemper shots and veterinarian fees."
She's keeping two cats. She loves dogs, but is allergic to them.

Good Deeds

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky farmers were behind in their plowing and planting this year but it didn't keep them from good deeds.
Sixty Calloway County residents planted five acres of tobacco for Thomas L. Armstrong who was two months recovering from rheumatic fever.

Ballard County farmers planted all the crops on the sizable farm of R. L. Swope, who was in ill health. The men were from Baptist and Methodist congregations.

And 14 neighbors, 12 with tractors, plowed the 16 acres of Wavil Joseph, stricken with measles along with his three children.

Unique Artist

FRANKFORT, Mich. (AP)—A unique artist is Gwen Frostic, who suffered a severe attack of polio as a child and was believed crippled for life.

She creates block-print note papers and greeting cards in her one-room print shop. She does extensive research for her nature sketches, which are in demand by tourists and art lovers.

Miss Frostic worked during World War II in the tool designing department of a bomber plant. Now she teaches a crafts class and edits a clubwomen's magazine.

Altered Uniforms

The 16th century uniforms worn by the Vatican City's glittering harberdiers, the Swiss Guards, last were altered by Michaelangelo.

Label Collector

DENVER (AP)—Most people—that is, people who drink beer—are interested in beer bottle content. But Joseph E. Hester likes the outside. He collects the labels.

Hester started the hobby back in 1929. Since then he has assembled more than 30,000 labels from some 90 countries.

Hester hasn't had his collection appraised since 1944. Then it was worth $6,000.
And what does Hester do in his spare time? He gathers whiskey bottle labels.

Chicago's Trackage

There is more than enough rail-way trackage within the Chicago terminal district to form a double-track railroad reaching from coast to coast.

BEAUTY AND COMEDY—A rose beside two laughs, Judy Lynn, prima donna of the Grand Ole Opry that will show at the Missouri State Fair the night of Sunday, August 26, is shown to the left of the show's comedy team, Lono and Oscar. In their chronic befuddlement the two have got mixed up, and Oscar is at the left. The Grand Ole Opry is the same musical favorite that has been delighting radio and television audiences with its star filled cast.

SCRAMBLER—A new attraction on the Ceflin-Wilson Midway this year and in its first appearance here at the 54th Missouri State Fair will be the exciting new Scrambler. The Scrambler is among 14 attractions never before presented.

Free Samples

CORVALLIS, Ore. — Oregon State College students got a free sampling of sherbet and came up with this observation:

Those that are sweet and smooth are best.

Roy Stein, superintendent of the Oregon State College dairy products laboratory said the sherbet samples were made sweet by addition of sugar, then were whipped into a one-fourth greater volume.

This meant more tiny air cells for a smoother, sweeter taste, he said. What's more, weight-watchers learned that they actually were getting fewer calories per serving because of the increased volume of air.

Stolen Tags

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. — John Shipley, of Jonesboro, Tenn., stopped on a rural road to give a stalled motorist a push.

As he pushed he noticed the other car bore his license plates, reported stolen three weeks earlier. The car started, Shipley gave chase, forced the other driver to stop, had him arrested and recovered his tags.

circuses more than 25 years ago as being "too dangerous."

Once again there'll be a "Queen of the Daredevils" on tour with Thrillcade. She is petite Michèle McNeece, of French-Irish extraction, from LeMans, France, who puts the elephant, Dancing Dyna, through its paces. Both have just returned to this country from Central America, where they were center ring attractions with Gran Circo Americano.

Thrillcade also boasts a troupe of clowns — known as the "battalion of buffoons," whose starring performers were drawn from Disneyland, TV and major circuses for this tour.

Water-Logged Capital

Illinois' first state capital now lies under water. The village of Kaskaskia, founded by a group of Jesuits in 1703, gradually disappeared under encroaching waters of the Mississippi after the capital was moved to Vandalia in 1820.

'Best Ham in the World'— Old Missouri Country Cured Ham Breakfast Here Monday

Some 600 visitors to the Missouri State Fair will feast on more than 600 pounds of "the best ham in the world" on Monday morning. They will be guests at the big annual gustatory event of the fair, the Old Missouri Country Cured Ham Breakfast, to be held at 8:30 a.m. in the cafeteria of the Smith-Cotton High School in Sedalia.

Among those prominent Missouri

Tricky Math

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The Romans — builders of fine roads, graceful buildings and lasting empires — did their math in a tricky manner.

A description of what they considered mathematical shortcuts has been found among the 600,000 microfilm copies of Vatican library manuscripts at St. Louis University here.

For example, one shortcut involved multiplying VIII (8) by VI (6). Doing it the Roman way, you take the difference between 10 and the multiplier (6) and subtract it from the number to be multiplied (8) leaving 4. This difference was multiplied by 10, giving 40.

Next, the "differentia" of both the multiplier and the multiplicand were found. This gives you the numbers 4 and 2, which if multiplied, became 8. Add the 8 to the 40 and the answer: 48 or XLVIII.

citizens scheduled to attend the breakfast are Harry S. Truman, former President of the United States, Senators Stuart Symington and Thomas C. Hennings Jr., both of Missouri, and Al Schoenbeck, St. Louis attorney who was a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate in the Aug. 7 primary. Also on the guest list will be a number of other noteworthy personages. Col. Robert E. Lee, Columbia, will again serve as toastmaster for the Ham Breakfast. He was the first toastmaster for the breakfast several years ago and has continued that position. Those present will be served, besides the Old Missouri Country Cured Ham, scrambled eggs, fried potatoes, biscuits with honey, and coffee. The breakfast, a traditional feature of the fair, is sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Just about as traditional as the breakfast itself is the auction at the breakfast of the Grand Champion Country Cured Ham of the Fair. Last year the Grand Champion Ham, entered by 20-year-old Morris Burger of California, was auctioned off for the record-shattering price of $40 a pound — the ham weighed 21 pounds. Burger's aunt, as it chanced, showed the reserve champion ham.

STEADY NERVES—With folded arms as if resigned to danger, little 4-year-old Melodie stands immovable against the target as her father encircles her with knives in a knife-throwing act that will be presented twice daily, morning and afternoon, as a free attraction at the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia, August 18 through August 26. The two are members of the Hazel trio who appear in the knife act and acrobatic feats at the fair. Other attractions of the morning and afternoon shows will be a slack wire artist, a trained mule and trained dogs.

'Greatest Midway' Now Returns to Missouri

A giant preview of the "Greatest Midway on Earth" will be held Friday night, Aug. 17, on the mile-long midway of the Cetlin-Wilson carnival. The entrance gates will be free to all.

Cetlin-Wilson returned again this year to the Missouri State Fair with 20 new rides and 14 attractions which have never before been presented here. They arrived

Monday night and Tuesday morning and set their midway up for the gala opening of the "Show-Me Show." Forty railroad cars brought their equipment to Sedalia.

Also featured this year with Cetlin-Wilson is the "South of the Border Show" having Carmelo Marroquin, a 19-year-old Matador fighting a real bull at every performance.

Stresses Forest Protection--

Conservation Building Gets 'New Look' for State Fair

The State Fair ground location of the Missouri Conservation Commission has been receiving some considerable redecorating and repair in the past few weeks. This work was done in preparation for the State Fair which opens Saturday, Aug. 18.

There are three fellows doing the work at the commission's building. They are Tom Brown, who has been there for three years during the summer, Tom Stapleton, and Bob Wisch, all of Jefferson City. They live, eat and sleep in the building which fair-goers enjoy, exhibits and displays of the conservation system for the state.

The commission is stressing forestry and protection in its displays this year, going along with the slogan "Keep Missouri Green. Prevent Woods Fires." In the past this slogan has been "Prevent Forest Fires." It has been changed and is now "Prevent Woods Fires." Part of the forestry exhibit in the building is new this year, showing various products made from the forest, such as chairs, benches, curios, and other articles.

There will be a new exhibit on protection entitled "Law Violators." This will be handled by the conservation agents, known to many of us as the game wardens. They prefer to be called the conservation agents.

In the animal pens there will be beaver, a buck deer, two fox, a red ox and a gray ox, a raccoon, a skunk and opossum. There will also be the wild fowl such as ducks and geese. Fish will remain in the glass aquariums in the center of the building as they always have been.

In the line of fish, one old fish, "Old Bill," a 30-pound catfish which has returned to the fair for 14 years, will return again this year to be in the large circular pool near the entrance to the conservation building.

Conservation field service will be located in the commission's area to help farmers plot out miniature farms, showing the planting, game coverage, ponds, windbreaks and the like.

A casting tournament will again be held in the bait-casting pool behind the conservation building with Jack Frost and John Hickey, conservation agents, being in charge of the event. This will be on the last Saturday of the fair.

Also featured will be Smokey, the bear, and Woody and the Ozark Smoke-Eaters. Smokey will be in the building cautioning people on woods fires. Woody and the Ozark Smoke-Eaters will sing for the enjoyment of persons in the building.

Work done on the conservation site by Brown, Wisch and Stapleton has consisted of the planting of seven beautiful flower beds around the location. They set out new cedar trees in the background of the place and have planted grass and kept it watered and trimmed. Much painting and cleaning has been done inside the building and around the animal pens on the outside.

FRANKENSTEIN CREATURE—Frankenstein's monster will appear on the Cetlin-Wilson Midway again this year. Here he is pictured as a horrible, twisted creature carrying a beautiful young girl. This creature has appeared at the Missouri State Fair in past years on the mile-long midway.

The Conservation Commission asks that citizens of the state "Keep Missouri Green, Prevent Woods Fires."

Gala Parade Opens State Fair Aug. 18

"Missouri on Parade" is the highly appropriate title of the big opening display of the State's 54th annual State Fair—booked here for a nine-day run from Aug. 18 through Aug. 26—for as the Fair is representative of the best in Missouri so the parade is representative of the Fair. The parade will wind through the streets of Sedalia and the Fairgrounds on Aug. 18 in a two-hour long cavalcade. Participants will include an impressive array of high school and military bands, floats, fine horses, military and other marching units, and countless other features to be thoroughly enjoyed and remembered.

The parade is, however, far from being the only worth-seeing event of the Fair's first day—Saturday, Aug. 18, which has been designated by L. C. Carpenter, State Commissioner of Agriculture, and the Fair Management as Fair Secretaries' and Children's Day. There will be a team pulling contest in the Coliseum in which equine brawn will be matched against equine brawn for $670 in premiums. High school musicians will give a massed band concert, big car auto races will roar around the famous Fair grounds speedway, the exciting Thrillcade Show will put on its one-night daredevil stand, and the Missouri State Revue and the Fireworks Display will provide entertainment and spectacular beauty.

Features of the second day, Aug. 19, will be a High School Band Parade, more Big Car Auto Races, a massed high school band concert, the Missouri State Revue, more fireworks, and the opening night of the Horse Show. And Sunday also will see the opening of one of the world's most highly acclaimed skating-skill exhibits, the spectacular "Holiday on Ice." This will be the first appearance of the great ice show in central Missouri. At considerable expense and with careful planning a greatly expanded stage has been set up in front of the grandstand, to accommodate the eight imposing spectacles in 28 acts, with a cast of more than 100 artists, that make up the revue.

Track Records May Be Altered Over Weekend

There's every possibility that a flock of new track records—and perhaps even a new world archive—may be set by one or more big car drivers in competition opening the Missouri State Fair Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The Fairgrounds half-mile oval—at one time flattest of the Midwest's flat tracks—has taken on a new look this year with the addition of beaked turns. The change should be enough to make a readily apparent difference in car speeds, although the track still falls under the flat speedways classification of the International Motor Contest Association, sanctioning body for the races.

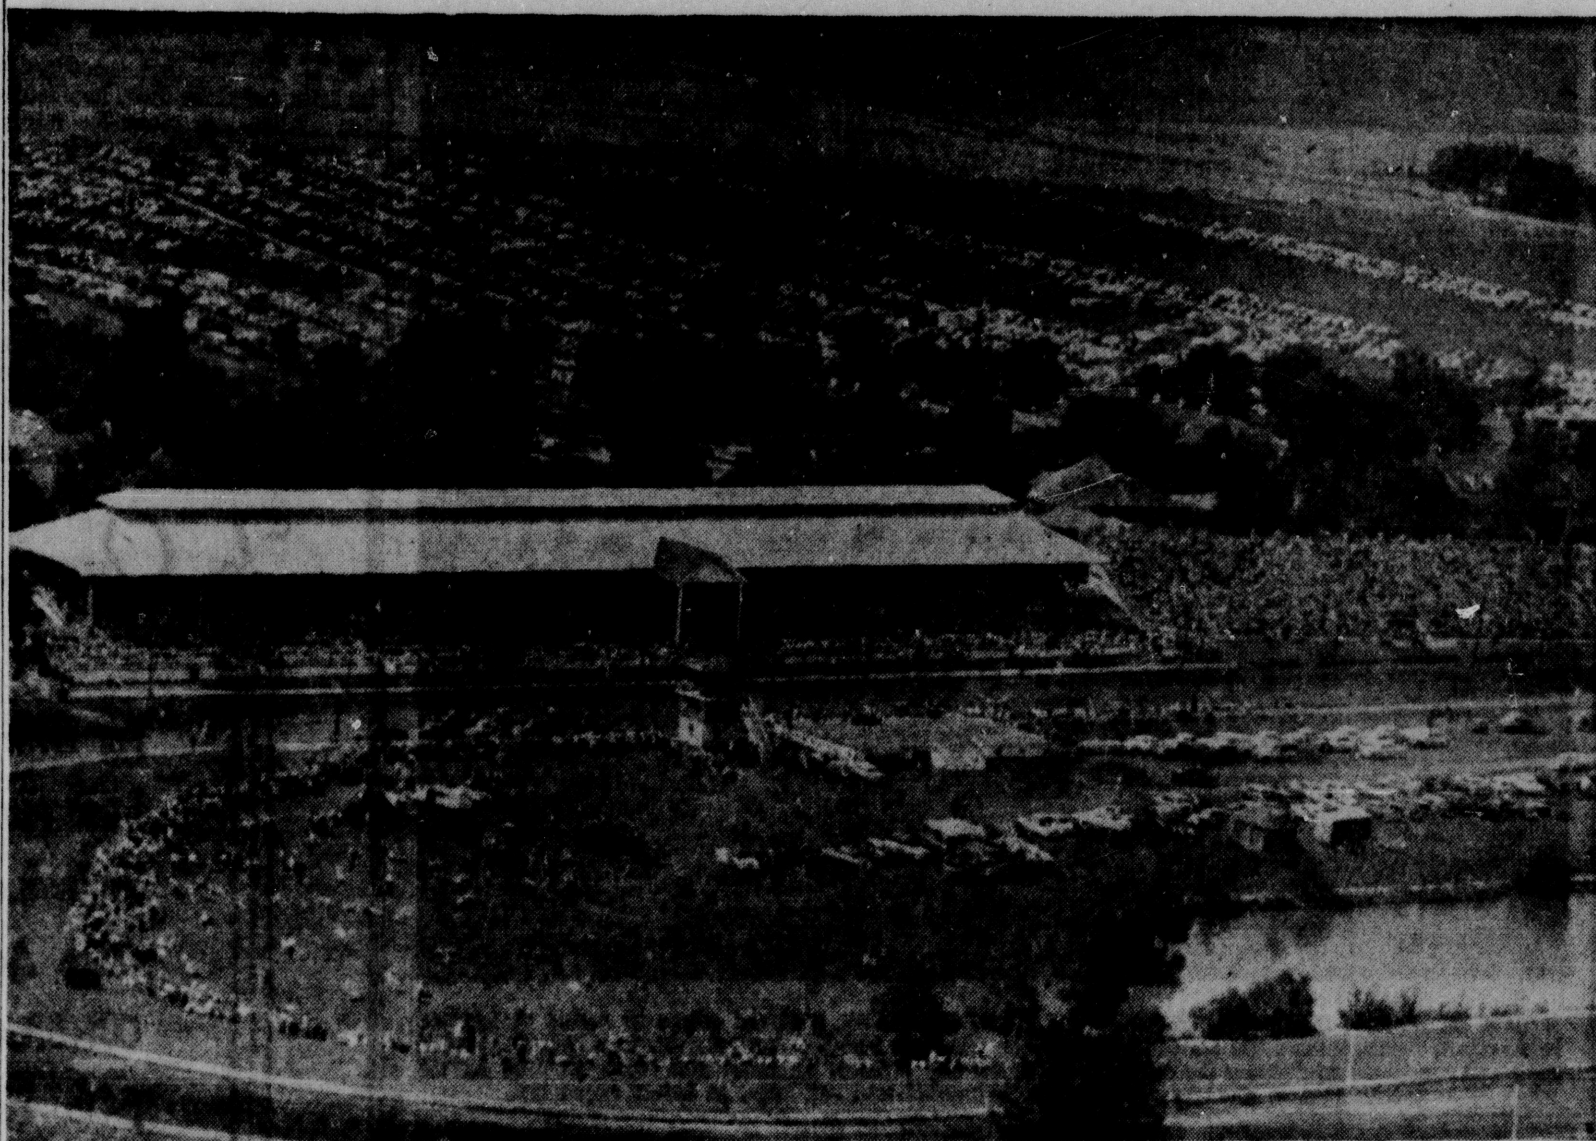

Charles Riley, capable State Fair groundskeeper, supervised the grading of an added two feet of bank on the turns. And Riley, himself an auto racing fan of long standing, said in a conversation with racing officials late this week that he felt that the added height in combination with cars capable of greater speeds could spawn a new crop of speed marks before the weekend's racing ends.

The present track records, from one to 20 laps:

1 lap—Jimmy Campbell, Oak Grove, Mo., 24.61, Aug. 17, 1952.
3 laps—Jerry Kemp, St. Louis, 1:17.61, Aug. 24, 1953.
5 laps—Frank Lupton, Tampa, Fla., 2:09.52, Aug. 21, 1949.
7 laps—Vern Bradley, Davenport, Ia., 3:33.95, May 30, 1951.
15 laps—Bobby Grim, Indianapolis, 6:00.85, Aug. 28, 1949.
20 laps—Mac McHenry, Wichita, Kan., 7:37.50, Aug. 24, 1953.

Diseases of the cardiovascular system took 810,000 lives in 1953, accounting for 53 per cent of all deaths last year.

The American honeybee is an immigrant. They came over with early settlers, astonishing the Indians who called them "white man's flies."

GRANDSTAND AND RACE TRACK IN ACTION—The above picture shows somewhat the typical activity going on at the 54th Missouri State Fair. The "Show-Me Show" this year will have plenty of action and thrills on the 1/2 and the mile race track along with shows in front of the grandstand both afternoon and evening. In the background you get an idea of the number of autos around the fair between Aug. 18-26.

BULLFIGHTER—Carmelo Marroquin, 19-year-old matador will be presented in the Cettin-Wilson "South of the Border Show" beginning Saturday at the 54th Missouri State Fair. Carmelo will fight a real bull at every performance during the nine-day run of the Cettin-Wilson shows.

Tall Corn Will Show At Fair This Year

Missouri is confident it is going to take from Iowa this year its reputation as the tall corn state. It believes it has the tallest stalk of corn ever raised anywhere at any time and is challenging any and all other corn growing states to trot out their best to try to beat the Show-Me state produce. The stalk is 30 feet tall—any skeptic is invited to measure it with a one foot rule—and the two ears are three feet long.

The phenomenal, colossal, unsurpassed stalk will be on exhibit throughout the period of the Missouri State Fair—Aug. 18 through Aug. 26—in front of the Missouri Farmers Association exhibit on Missouri State Fair Blvd. behind the grandstand. The MFA insists it expects to keep a tank truck handy so the stalk, which has to be transported in sections on a trailer, will be adequately watered during the dry days of August.

A Good Officer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Highway Patrolman Anthony Graham stopped a motorist for speeding and took out his book to write a ticket.

Then he looked into the car and saw the driver, his wife and two children were all but covered up with mosquitoes.

Lacking the heart to add to their troubles, he put his book away and waved them on.

Army Contingent Will Show New Field Hospital

A Field Hospital including a dispensary, surgery with two operating rooms, a pharmacy, laboratory, X-ray, dental clinic and ward tent will be among the exhibits displayed at the Missouri State Fair this year by the contingent from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. The Fair will open August 18 and continue thru August 26.

The Field Hospital is only a part of the unusually extensive representation from Fort Wood. There are also to be basic infantry weapons together with cutaway functional models, including the light machine gun, the carbine, automatic rifle, 30-caliber rifle and 45-caliber pistol. In the tent with the weapons will be a flame thrower, a five-foot model of a hand grenade and a model motor pool with some 80 miniature vehicles.

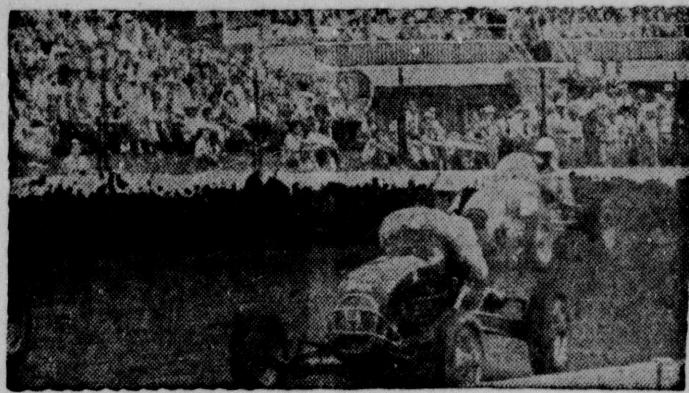

Visitors to the State Fair also will have a chance to see the new Army uniforms featuring the new dress blue, Army green and semi-garrison (shorts), as well as to inspect the Arctic ski suit, skis, snow shoes, portable cooking unit and other field equipment.

There will be on hand a water purification set having a capacity of 35 gallons a minute, complete with three 1000-gallon storage tanks. American land mines and firing devices will be shown, with a demonstration of a mine detector during which mines will be buried and located for the benefit of visitors. A truck-mounted air compressor and some of its operating tools such as the rock drill, pavement breaker, nail driver and circular saw, will be demonstrated.

Radio and teletype equipment featuring a radio set in actual operation will maintain contact with Fort Wood. Army motion pictures will be shown for visitors. During the Fair there will be a display of a four-ton jeep truck, an ambulance, a five-ton wrecker and a 2 1/2-ton amphibian duck. All these vehicles will take part in the opening day parade.

It takes 28 man hours of work to log, manufacture and distribute one thousand board feet of lumber.

Plastic optical lenses first appeared in the United States in 1937.

OFFIES TO OPEN STATE FAIR—Powerful Offenhausers—powered cars, similar to those used at the Indianapolis "500", will open the 1956 Missouri State Fair, at Sedalia, Saturday, August 18 and Sunday, August 19. The first two races will be held on the half-mile track, while the Missouri Futurity, for big cars, and the Missouri International for stock and sports cars, will be held on the mile track, the closing Saturday and Sunday.

Aunt Annie Apple Will Be Busy at The Fair

Aunt Annie Apple will be on hand at the Missouri State Fair this year as one of the chief representatives of the Missouri apple growers. She will preside over the exhibit of Missouri grown apples that is to be sponsored at the Fair—Aug. 18 through Aug. 26—by the Missouri State Horticultural Society.

Aunt Annie, who expects to spend most of her working time at the fair keeping her hands busy peeling apples, will also give brief informative talks on the varieties of Missouri apples available, on their merits as a food and a tasty fruit, and how to use them. She has announced that she hopes every Fair visitor will stop by the exhibit to learn about Missouri apples and to get a free

Charcoal Expansion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The increasing interest in outdoor cooking, barbecuing and camping is expanding the charcoal industry in western states. The U. S. Forest Service reports a growing number of inquiries as to types of kilns to be used, processing and related problems.

In California, most of the charcoal production is in the Paso Robles and Healdsburg areas. The wood used is chiefly liveoak, with some associated hardwoods.

E. W. Morris, a tree farmer living near Cave Junction, Ore., operates two kilns turning out about 10 tons of charcoal monthly. He uses such hardwoods as madrone, manzanita and oak.

Auto Daredevils Will Thrill Fair Audiences Soon

Two major thrill shows in one will be featured at the Missouri State Fair on Aug. 25 for those who want to close their visit to the second from last day of the big exposition with a couple of excitement-packed hours. The Trans-World Auto Daredevils will go through a breath-taking series of death-defying stunts with speeding stock cars, while the Cytrix Troupe of motorcycle equilibrists will try to outdo the Daredevils with sensational acrobatics on their two-wheeled vehicles.

Running the gamut of thrills from sliding off a speeding car through a circle of flame, to hurtling an automobile through space over inclined rampways nearly 100 feet apart are but a few of the madcap numbers put on by the Daredevils. Fair visitors will see the Cytrix troupe put on a wide variety of acrobatic feats that would take extraordinary skill merely to perform on solid ground, yet they do the stunts on moving motorcycles.

The Cytrix troupe is making its first American tour, having come over from England where for several years the stuntmen have been making highly successful appearances at sports events, speed-

New, Old Shoes Will Be on Display

"Shoes Old and New" will be the theme of the International Shoe Co. footwear exhibit, which will be located on the center aisle of the Agricultural Building.

The display will include some 35 new shoes for fall plus about 30 shoes from the company's museum of more than 1700 old and unusual shoes.

Clifford Marenness, curator of the International Shoe Co. Educational Museum, will staff the display and give out a free historical booklet entitled "Shoes Thru the Ages."

Included in the old shoes will be styles from the Civil War period down to the 1920's.

Another educational feature of the booth will be a step-by-step development of a shoe from the cut parts to the finished shoe. A total of 17 different stages will be shown and explained.

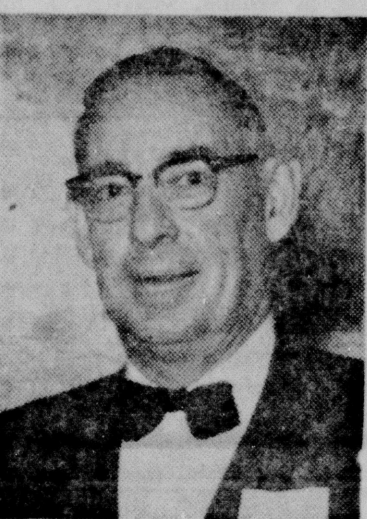

International, largest-dollar volume producer of shoes in the world, operates 34 of its 60 plants in Missouri. Nearby plants are at Marshall, Sweet Springs and Windsor. All three produce men's dress shoes, work shoes and boots. Combined employment is about 1,200 persons.

Last year International produced about 52,500,000 pair of shoes for a sales volume of $262,000,000. The firm has 13,600 stockholders and employs 36,500 persons. The International home office is in St. Louis.

then feels the pride of artistic creation, for the Missouri State Fair's flower beds alone are well worth a trip to the Fair during its nine days, even though the flowers are only one of the numerous attractions the State's annual Show-Me Show has to offer.

STOCK CARS INVADE RACE TRACK—Late model stock cars, pictured above in action at another Midwestern track, invade the Missouri State Fair Grounds Sunday, August 26th, in a 100-mile test of men and machines essentially the same as those on city streets. International Motor Contest Association rules permit certain changes, such as the installation of roll bars, as safety measures.

THEY HEAD THE "SHOW-ME SHOW"—in the upper left corner is Phil Donnelly, Governor of the state; next to him is L. C. Carpenter, Commissioner of Agriculture, and in the lower left corner is W. H. Ritzenthaler, Secretary of the Missouri State Fair. All extend personal invitations to the people of the state of Missouri to attend the 54th exposition and show of the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia.

Tomato Tree
The tomato tree is found in Latin America. It is a woody shrub, often approaching the size of a tree 12 to 18 feet high and two to four inches in diameter. Its subacid fruit is similar in flavor to the tomato.

Denies Preaching Plans for Church

W. H. Ritzenthaler, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, has denied that he has any plans for having a preacher at hand during the period of the Fair—Aug. 18 through Aug. 26—to perform wedding ceremonies in the replica of St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Ironton that is one of the main attractions of the Highway Gardens.

The rumor about the minister was founded on the fact that last year many romantically inclined visitors to the Fair and the Gardens were so affected by the quiet serenity of the church and its historic background that they felt there could be no more fitting a setting for the big ceremony of their lives. The church was first shown at last year's Fair, and this year it is expected to be lovelier than ever.

Has 29,000 Flower Plants—

State Fair Arrangements Of Flowers Are Beautiful

When it comes to a green thumb with flowers, R. J. (Bob) Lee really has one. He has to have one, for he is florist at the Missouri State Fair, and his big job is to see that something like 29,000 flower plants all come into flowering at the same time—and the right time, the period of the Fair—which is no easy job, as any flower fancier who has trouble getting a few dozen plants merely to bloom would willingly concede. Yet Bob "rides herd" on more than 40 varieties of annuals, keeps them from asserting their natural instincts and blooming when they doggone well feel like it, and protects them from the seedling to Fair time against the unnumbered enemies of flowers.

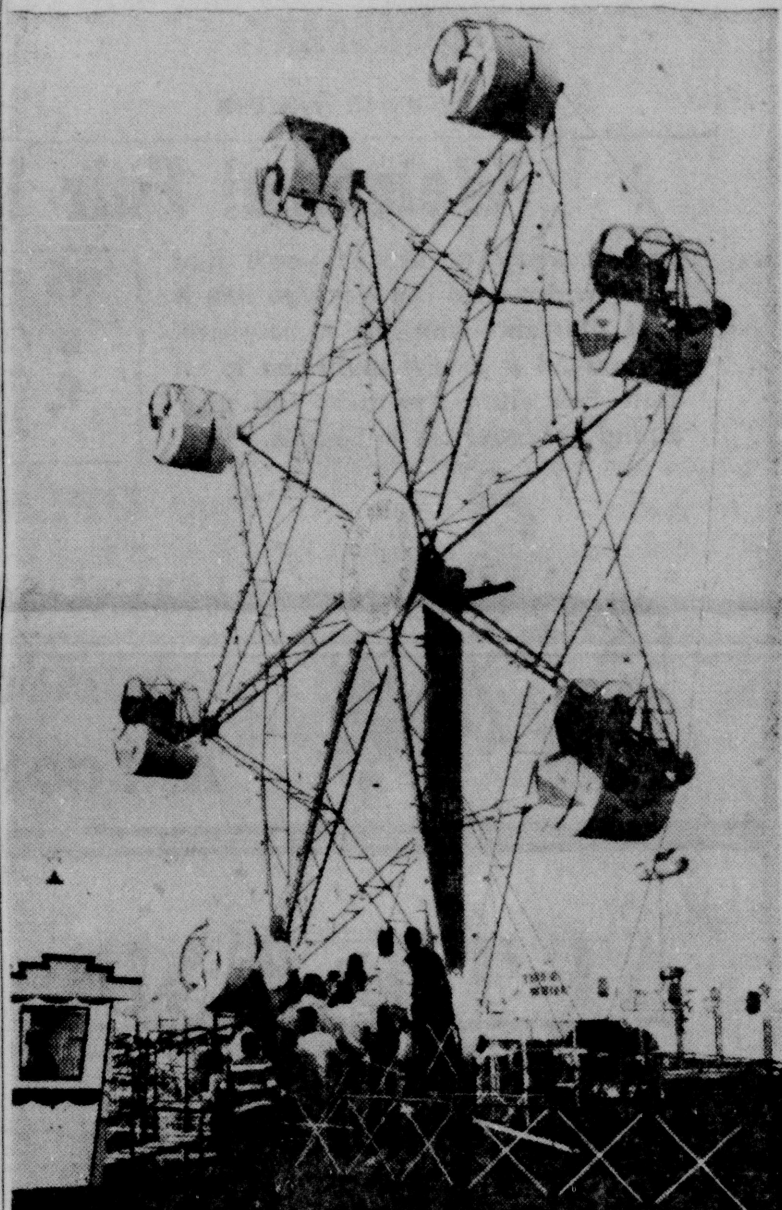

Bob carries on with the aid of three helpers and a greenhouse—as well as a lot of loving care and hard work. The greenhouse—he was provided a new, larger one this spring—is of major importance, for with it he can force, hold back, nurse and cajole his charges with better results. He has been carrying on at the Fair for 20 years, for that is how long Bob has been devoting his year-round efforts to making the flower beds of the Fair grounds some of the most beautiful of any exposition of the sort in the country.

Along about the first of March Bob gets busy for the arrival of the Fair—which this year is from August 18 through August 26. He prepares and plants his seed beds, plans his flower arrangements and masses and contrasts the flower beds. He has planted a total of 82 individual beds this year, a total of more than an acre. Each year he changes his landscaping arrangement.

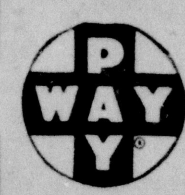

As the seedlings develop and reach transplanting stage they are set out—some 29,000 plants, including canna bulbs, to be put in by hand. From then on they must be closely watched and individually tended, to be sure that the massed groups are all of the same height, other groups are of the right height, and that all flowers bloom together, on schedule, and don't jump the gun or linger unduly. Day after day and week after week each single plant is checked, pinched back, encouraged with a bit of fertilizer, watched over with unceasing vigilance.

But that is far from all Bob has to worry about. There are weeds to contend with, and insects that would like nothing better than to feed on succulent flowers. Birds, rabbits and dogs are a constant menace—the birds eat the blooms (robbers are the worst pests), the rabbits eat almost anything, and the dogs, hoping to eat the rabbits, chase the bunnies in packs through the flower beds, causing havoc in the form of trampled plants.

The results, however, are well worth the effort. Bob assures the questioning visitor as his eyes keep wandering over his precious beds while he talks—he is on constant lookout for a wayward growth, an intruding blade of FLYING DUTCHMAN—Fritz Tegmeier, Elgin, Ill.'s, venerable "Flying Dutchman," has entered his Olds-powered race car in all three days of big car racing at the Fair. A veteran of more than 30 years on the nation's fastest asphalt, Tegmeier is a long-time favorite with Missouri racing fans.

Army Group Will Show Ace Bomber

"Command Decision," the B-29 Superfort which became the world's most decorated bomber during the Korean conflict, will be displayed by the U.S. Air Force at the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia Aug. 18-26.

"Command Decision" is the world's only bomber "Jet Ace." Five miniature jet fighters painted on her nose (airplanes, like ships, are females to their crews) represent the five MIG-15 jet fighters her guns shot down over Korea.

She flew 121 combat missions over Korea. They are indicated by 121 tiny bombs painted on her nose. She logged more than 1,500 combat hours and dropped more than 2,500,000 pounds of bombs on Communist factories, railroads, highways, oil refineries, supply dumps, bridges and troop concentrations.

Visitors to this gallant aerial amazon can walk through her 99 foot long fuselage to inspect the myriad instruments and controls which made her fly. They will see her remote-controlled armament, once secret Norden bombsight, bomb bays filled with dummy bombs and the crew positions.

The big Superfort's engines and wings have been removed, and its fuselage cut in half and mounted on two big trailers, for transporting to and from display sites.

"Command Decision" was the last combat B-29 to be retired from the U.S. Air Force. It made its first public appearance as an Air Force travelling display in New York City, where more than a half a million people walked through it during the 1955 Armed Forces Week.

She was modified for her new role as a travelling Air Force display in the hangar of the Orientation Group, USAF of Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. Airmen of that organization accompany the "Command Decision" to its show sites to assemble and prepare it for displaying and to answer questions about the historic Superfort.

About 4,500 B-29s were produced by Boeing for the Air Force during and after World War II. First flown in 1942, the B-29 was the U.S. Air Force's first Very Heavy Bomber, first combat plane with dual nose wheels, first combat plane with pressurized crew compartments, first bomber ever ordered into production "off the drawing board" before a pilot model was even built. It was a B-29, the "Enola Gay," which heralded the arrival of the atomic age by dropping the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Japan, August 6, 1945.

Although B-29s no longer are classed as combat craft, they still serve many useful purposes. They are used for training, weather reconnaissance, research and rescue work.

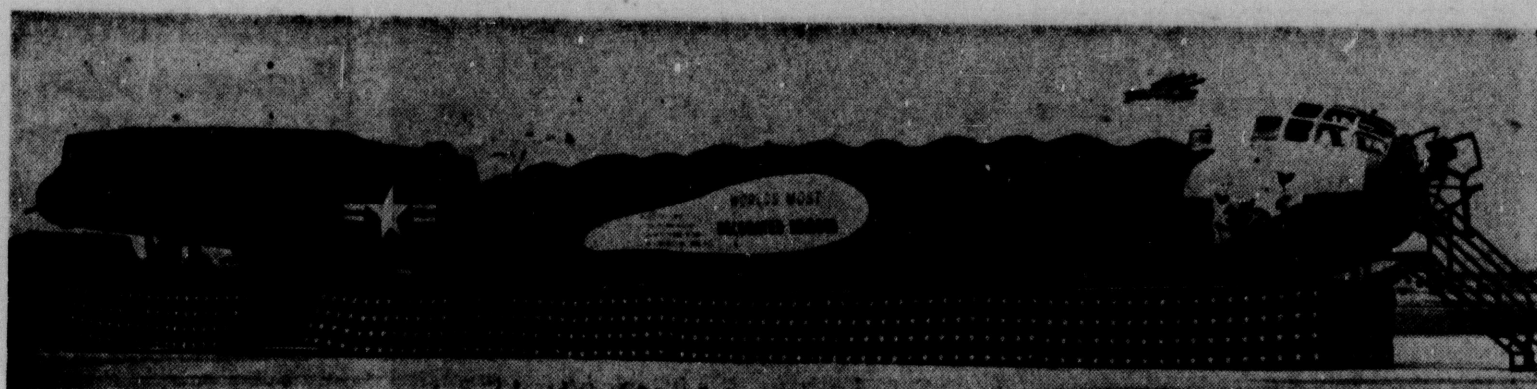

The B-29 is 99 feet long, stands a wingspan of 141 feet and weighs 27 feet and nine inches high, has 70 tons. Powered by four Curtis-Wright Cyclone engines, it can fly faster than 350 miles per hour, higher than 35,000 feet, and can carry 10,000 pounds of bombs over 4,600 miles. It is armed with 13 .50 calibre machineguns, remotely fired.

Beet Revolution

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Sugar beet production will be revolutionized if field tests of a new single-germ beet variety are successful, D. D. Hill of Oregon State College reports. The new variety may end hand thinning.

Hill said the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports the new monogerm varieties ready for testing in the field. They will be planted so spaced that machine thinning and weeding will be practicable. At present clumps of plants come up and have to be thinned by hand, a time-consuming and costly operation.

Moreover, W. A. Frazier, Oregon State horticulturist, says hybrid crosses of monogerm varieties are being developed for table beets, bringing machine cultivation and thinning in that industry, too.

COMMAND DECISION — The B-29 Superfortress "Command Decision," the world's only bomber "Jet Ace," will be displayed by the U.S. Air Force at the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia, Missouri on 18-26 August, 1956. Her guns downed five MIG-15 jet fighters over Korea, and she flew 121 combat missions during the Korean conflict to drop 2,500,000 lbs. of bombs on enemy targets. Visitors to this historic combat veteran can walk through her 99-foot long fuselage and inspect her intricate equipment and controls. (U. S. Air Force photo)

Coaches at Berkeley—

Brutus Hamilton Is Honoree For Sports Hall of Fame

The 1956 honoree of the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame is Brutus Hamilton, track and field coach at the University of California in Berkeley.

An illustrious figure in the cinder world since 1920, Hamilton's long athletic career has included six trips to the Olympic games, as competitor, observer, a assistant coach and finally head coach.

Hamilton was elected to a position in the Missouri Sports Shrine on the State Fairgrounds at Sedalia by sportswriters of the state's daily newspapers.

He will join seven other native-born living Missourians in the Hall of Fame. Previous honorees are Carl Hubbell, 1951; Casey Stengel and Hugh Allen, 1952; Bill Corum and Don Faurot, 1953; Cal Hubbard, 1954; and Vernon Kennedy, 1955.

Hamilton, a native of Peculiar and an Air Force veteran of World War II, will be honored in ceremonies at the Missouri State Fair Thursday, August 23.

The 1956 selection is a graduate of the University of Missouri, where he was an outstanding track and field performer, won the national collegiate decathlon championship and merited honorable mention on Walter Camp's All-American football team in 1924.

He won the U.S. championships in both the decathlon and pentathlon in 1920, qualifying for the Olympic games at Antwerp where he placed second in the decathlon and fifth in the pentathlon. He made the Olympic team again in 1934 but failed to place because of an injury.

Hamilton coached at Westminster College of Fulton from 1924 until 1929, consistently producing top-notch cinder teams and serving as assistant to head football coach Jim Pixlee.

He was hired as head track coach at the University of Kansas in 1929 and developed such athletes as Jim Bausch, 1932 Olympic decathlon champion, and Glenn Cunningham, the famed miler who was a member of the U. S. Olympic contingents in 1932 and 1936.

In 1932 Hamilton moved to the University of California as track coach and became director of athletics there in 1947, a position he held until his retirement early this year. He has been chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's track and field rules committee for 10 years.

Hamilton made his sixth trip to the Olympics in 1952 as head coach of the U. S. team competing at Helsinki. In 1949 he was coach of the American team in the U. S.-Scandinavian games at Oslo. He was coach of the U. S. squad in the Massabean games at Tel Aviv, Israel, four years later and in 1954-55 he was sent to India by the State Department as a goodwill ambassador to lecture and conduct a series of sports clinics.

Four Big Days of Racing Follow Weekend Car Races

Four more days of motor racing will thrill speed fans at the Missouri State Fair following the big car events which kick off the 54th annual "Show-Me Show" Saturday and Sunday.

First event to follow will be motorcycle races sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association, slated to begin in front of the grandstand at 1:30 p.m. Monday. Officials expect as many as 70 contestants to be on hand for the sprint events, which begin at 2:30.

Among the array of steel-shod talent which will take part is Don Hutchinson of Kansas City, who gained prominence in the two-wheel sport long before he gained prominence as a midjet auto and big car chauffeur.

Nine races are on the program in addition to the time trials. Racing under lights makes its debut Friday night, August 24th, in the third running of the Missouri Modified Stock Car Sweepstakes. A field of more than 50 of the speedy machines has entered.

A duel between Torch Aleshire of Moberly, 1955 winner, and Jud Larson of Austin, Tex., and Kansas City, 1954 winner, loomed as a certainty. Both have been among the leading drivers in their respective areas all season and both have set their sights on gaining the state championship in the upcoming "rubber" match.

The Missouri Futurity, the big car classic which made its debut here last year, has attracted most of the outstanding cars and drivers in the Midwest, as well as several other more distant states.

It will consist of time trials and six events — five 10 mile heats with inverted starts, and a 50-mile feature open to qualifiers as determined by placings in the heats.

The handicap imposed on the faster cars in the heats provides a race with more passing, one in which driving skill as well as sheer engine power is at a premium.

The windup attraction is the 100-mile grind for late model stock

World Champion Female Race Driver To Be at the Fair

A highlight of big car automobile racing at the Fair will be the appearance of Miss Fay Taylor, world's champion woman race driver, who will give driving exhibitions at all three big car race dates.

Miss Taylor, who hails from Dublin, Ireland, will wheel a powerful Offenhauser racer in her appearances here.

The copper-haired Irish colleen won her title in races around the globe, having competed in speed events in England, Ireland, Germany, France, Sweden, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and several South American countries.

High spots in her career were on the Brooklands (England) Mountain Circuit, when she cracked world speed records established by Sir Malcolm Campbell and Raymond May.

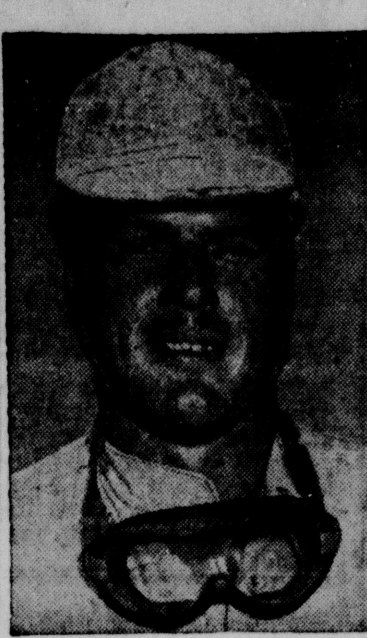

cars — like the Futurity scheduled on the mile track.

Styled the Missouri International, the event will be one of only five scheduled anywhere in the United States this year. The new International Classification was set up this year to allow foreign as well as American-built sports cars to vie in open competition on the speedways with conventional stock cars.

Also allowed for the first time this year are convertibles equipped with roll bars according to standards set up by the IMCA.

Thus far three Internationals have been held, with standard American makes shading the other contestants each time. There's more there than meets the eye, however, since in each instance crashes or mechanical difficulties took their toll of the sports cars and convertibles.

Drivers favoring those machines have vowed that they will discover the "key" to an international victory, and the Missouri State Fair Grounds may be the spot where that pledge will be fulfilled.

CHALLENGES CHAMP — Jud Larson of Austin, Tex., has submitted his entry for three days of big car racing at the Missouri State Fair and will be among the principal challengers for laurels held by the defending champion, Bobby Grim of Indianapolis, another of the 24 drivers who will be on hand.

Jud Larson Adds His Name to The State Fair Racers

Missouri State Fair Secretary W. H. Ritzenthaler today announced that Jud Larson has submitted his entry for all three days of big car racing during the 54th annual "Show-Me Show."

Larson, Kansas City, lead-foot who recently established a new International Motor Contest Association world speed record for flat half-mile tracks when he toured Kansas City's Lakeside oval in 21.89 seconds, will drive the beautiful No. 25 Offenhauser owned by Jimmy Campbell of Oak Grove, Mo., a former IMCA champion.

Larson's Kansas City performance eclipsed the former world mark of 22.01 set by Bobby Grim of Indianapolis at the same track and on the same day. Grim, a two-time winner here last year

'Poison Lil' Will Be Here For Car Races

A race car which has far surpassed the normal life span of machines of its breed will be in action during big car racing events slated during three days of the Missouri State Fair.

And, despite the fact that it has campaigned the nation's smoke-paths—including the Indianapolis Motor Speedway—for more than a score of years it's still a perennial occupant of the winner's circle and commands the respect of the men of racing from coast to coast.

The vehicle is the highly-regarded Weirick-Sparks Offy, purchased this year by Joe Gensma, El Monte, Calif., sportman who has owned several Offenhauser cars during his 20 years in the racing game and classes the No. 43 sprinter as the best of the lot.

The car, built on the West coast in 1933, was driven the same year to the American Automobile Association championship of that region by Al Gordon—and in her infancy earned the unlabeled nickname of "Poison Lil."

Lil, now a dowager in the speed sorority, continues to be poison to her sister cars, and the periodic addition of the latest in racing refinements to keep her on a mechanical par with other speedway creations should keep Lil in the limelight for many years to come.

Lil is driven by Art George, last year's Pacific Coast Three-A champion, who has been driving race cars almost as long as Lil has been around, having taken his first ride back in 1937.

Art, daddy of a 7-year-old future race driver, considers it a distinct privilege to drive the venerable Offy. "You couldn't ask for a better ride," he declares. "I treat her right and she does the same for me, and if we don't win the championship this year we won't be far from it."

And Lil, who has known the hands of such speedway stars as Duke Nalon and the late Rex Mays, appears to think pretty highly of Art, too. The string of victories she's given him will attest to that.

and the defending 1955 IMCA champ, also has submitted his entry for the Fair race meets, scheduled Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 18 and 19, and for the second annual Missouri Futurity on the mile track Aug. 25, Ritzenthaler said.

Twenty-four drivers have submitted entries, with 12 of the cars being powered by the famed Offenhauser engine identical to that in winning cars at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway since 1947.

Big Car Prize Money Amounts to $11,160

Prize money totaling $11,160 will be at stake for the three days of car racing which highlight the 54th annual Missouri State Fair, and other sizeable purses will go to leading contestants in motorcycle, modified stock car and late model stock car events.

The seven-event sprint car contests slated Saturday and Sunday afternoons have attracted more than 35 entries from widely-scattered states, all intent on grabbing the lion's share of the $3,850 which will be up for grabs each of the two days.

Fair Secretary W. H. Ritzenthaler

er said that most of this weekend's entrants have indicated they also will race for the $4,000 purse posted for the second annual Missouri Futurity Saturday, August 25, and added that several others are expected.

Victory in the futurity will be worth a cool $1,000—plus money received in qualifying events—to the winning driver.

In the Administration Building saws and hammers were flying fast the week previous to the opening of the fair. A new office was being created from an old coal bin in the basement. Carpenters completely renovated the old coal bin for the private use of fair personnel.

The gratitude train car which usually is located near the car entrance to the race track has been moved this year. It can now be found between the Home Economics and Missouri Buildings. It is now located with a background of trees and shrubs and a foreground of flower beds.

The gratitude car has been undergoing some repairs to prepare it for the fair. The doors have had some panels replaced and parts of it will be painted.

THRILL SHOW—In a death-defying loop-the-loop a daredevil pilot rides a half-ton juggernaut through a triple somersault in one of the most nerve-tingling acts of the Thrillcade, the fast-paced thrill show that will appear at the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia on opening night, August 18. After plunging down the almost perpendicular ramp and making three complete loops in the air the motorless vehicle lands on a receiving ramp—if everything goes well. Once featured by major circuses the "Ride of Death" was dropped a quarter of a century ago because of its dangers. It has been revived by the Thrillcade, the only thrill show on tour to feature it among its series of daredevil stunts.

Demonstrations For Posie Lovers Will Be at Fair

Among the attractions for flower lovers that is to be put on at the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia will be flower arrangement demonstrations at noon on two days, Tuesday, Aug. 21, and Thursday, Aug. 23. The demonstrations will be held in the Floriculture building, and are now being organized by Mrs. Robert O. Powelson of St. Joseph, widely known floral artist and teacher. She also will give some of the lecture demonstrations. Cooperating with Mrs. Powelson will be personnel from the life member groups of the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri. Each member of those groups has prepared for lecture demonstrations and judging by completing the five courses of the National Council Judging School.

ment has arranged that they be given free of charge for Fair visitors who wish to attend.

Democrat-Capital Class Ads Are Workers You Can Afford To Hire!

On Tuesday three demonstrators will be on hand, with three different women giving the lecture demonstration on Thursday. The subject of the Tuesday program will be corsage making and miscellaneous arrangements, while on Thursday preservation of floral beauty and novelty arrangements will be shown.

There will be no charge made for the demonstrations, according to W. H. Ritzenthaler, Secretary of the Fair, for the Fair manage-

Swine Pavilion Features Miss Universe Here

Miss Universe will be at the Missouri State Fair this year, Fair Secretary W. H. (Chubby) Ritzenthaler announced today. Visitors to the Fair who want to get a sight of this representative of feminine beauty will find her on display at the Swine Pavilion, for Miss Universe, it must be explained, is entered in the senior spring sow pig class of the Swine Department. She is, in short, a young lady pig.

Miss Universe is the daughter of a boar bearing the robust name of Rootin'-Tootin' and a sow named Cleopatra. Rootin'-Tootin' himself will be on hand among the swine entries, along with a full dozen of his offspring in addition to Miss Universe. They include Miss Universe's sister, Miss Clean Cut.

The Rootin'-Tootin' family, of course, is only a small part of the entries being received for the Swine Department, for entries in the porcine competition for premiums have been coming in at a most satisfactory rate this year, even at this early date. The Fair management reports there is every indication that this will be a big swine year at the Fair, with some of the finest specimens ever displayed entered in all classes and breeds. A total of $7,732.60 in premium money is being offered in the Swine Department — nearly $900 more than last year — with Tamworth and Landrace added as two new classes.

A VETERAN DRIVER — A track-wise veteran of the nation's speedways at 29, Lee Drollinger of Champaign, Ill., will be among more than 30 race drivers who will vie for gold and glory in three days of big car races at the Missouri State Fair beginning this week-end.

Over Hundred In 'Holiday On Ice' Cast

A 2½ hour performance featuring winter sports, comedy and lavish spectacles begins Sunday night at the 54th Missouri State Fair when Holiday on Ice will give the first performance of its scheduled run from Sunday through Thursday. The company boasts more than 100 performers.

International in scope, Holiday on Ice Shows, Inc. is now reputed to be the world's largest producers of ice shows having units currently playing in Europe, South America, the Orient and two in this country and employing more than 500 skaters of many nationalities.

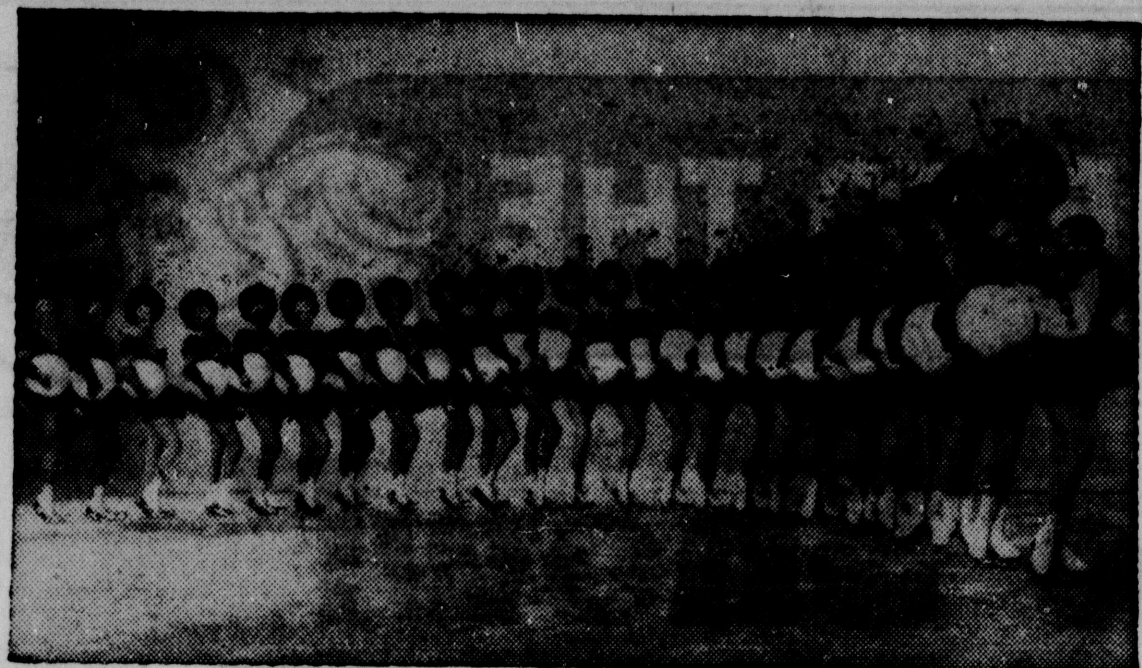

The opening number in the 1956 edition coming to the Missouri "Show - Me Show", "Totin' Ice Around the World", was inspired by the far-flung activities of the producers. In it, each member of the skating chorus represents a section of the world and the finale of the scene shows a large map of the world constructed on the ice and dotted with electric lights showing areas where a Holiday on Ice unit has played.

Other spectacular scenes will be Ravel's "Bolero" in the Aztec setting which includes a huge "volcano" which spouts lava and flames; "Noah's Ark", especially for the small fry, will have the ice alive with Biblical animals; "Music for Americans", a tribute to Cole Porter, George Gershwin and Irving Berlin, will star world champion figure skater, Sonya Kaye; "Winter Mardi Gras" will have the atmosphere of a winter carnival with the skaters throwing snow balls at the audience. A skating chorus of 36 young Glamour-Icers and Ice-Squires and many comedy and novelty numbers keep the show moving at a fast pace.

Headliners in the 100 member ice show will be Sonya Kaye, the Cooks, Shirley Winter, Bill Blocker, Jorge Vallee, Rafflor and Mapes, Smith and Ladue, Phil Hiser and Gladys Miller. Among the leading comedians will be Ben Dova, Flip and Flop, Buddy and Baddy and Marvin Shaw.

In addition to six stage technicians traveling with the show, several local men will be required to set up and run the show at the fairgrounds. Six huge trucks will transfer the costumes, electrical effects and scenery from three baggage cars to the fair. Local musicians will augment the show's orchestra.

There are approximately 73 miles of plumbing and pipe throughout the entire Missouri State Fair grounds. This is an estimation made by oldtimers around the fair familiar with the plumbing.

GLAMOUR ON ICE—A line of 24 Glamour-Icers, precision-skating beauties, will be spotlighted along with 12 Ice-Squires, in a number of spectacular scenes in Holiday on Ice, one of the attractions before the grandstand each night during the week of the 54th Missouri State Fair. The big ice show boasts a company of 100 members.

Curtain Rises Saturday on Big Car Race As 54th Missouri 'Show-Me Show' Begins

A field of 38 cars, perhaps the most imposing array of racing iron and top-flight driving talent ever seen at the Missouri State Fair in all of its 54-year history, roars off in quest of nearly $4,000 in prize money tomorrow afternoon in the Show-Me Show's curtain-raiser.

Topping the list of drivers gathered here from 10 scattered states is, of course, the 1955 International Motor Contest Association speedway-car champion, who, Missouri fans will recall, scored two impressive wins here last year en route to the title.

Grim will drive the familiar black No. 2, the Hector Honore Bardahl Offenhauser, whose engine is identical to those which have been in the winning car in the Indianapolis "500" since 1947.

But it will be driving ability that will count if Grim is to shade the stellar field, for no less than 15 of the 38 entries also are driven by the powerful Offy power plant. And the hard, slick track forecast by IMCA officials sent here to supervise the race should prove to be a tremendous leveling factor.

Among the foremost challengers will be Curly Cotner of Evansville, Ind., and Johnny Poulsen of Gardena, Calif., current leaders in two other prominent American racing bodies, the Central States Racing Association and California Racing Association.

A late entry who definitely will be heard from is Art George of Los Angeles, Pacific Coast champion, who will drive the famed No. 43 Weirick-Sparks Offenhauser recently purchased at an undisclosed price by Joe Gamsa, El Monte, Calif., race car owner.

The car has been campaigned all over the United States and has appeared at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway piloted by such nationally-known drivers as Duke Nalon and the late Rex Mays.

Missouri drivers will bid for a share of the spoils, with Bill Chennault and Don Hutchison of Kansas City, as well as Jud Larson, who currently makes his home there; Herschel Wagner of Hickman Mills, driving the sparkling new Moccia Offy out of St. Louis; Eddie Loetscher and Harry Ross of St. Louis, as well as Bob Newkirk of Springfield and Maynard Hulett of Columbia, among others.

A seven-event sprint type program is on tap, with time trials slated at 1 p.m., to be followed by heat races, a trophy dash, Australian pursuit or consolation event and the feature, open to money winners in preliminary events.

The same field will compete in a similar program scheduled for Sunday afternoon, and most are expected to return—along with several new entries—to vie in the 100 miles of racing which make up the Missouri Futurity on the mile track Saturday, Aug. 25.

Tomorrow's entries:

1. Jerry Blundy, G.M.C., Galesburg, Ill.
2. Paul James, Wayne Chevrolet, Fairbury, Neb.

Bait-Casting Tourney Again at Fair

A bait-casting tournament will be held again this year at the Missouri State Fair at the Conservation Commission's casting pool. The tournament is sponsored by radio station KDRO and the Missouri Conservation Commission in co-operation with the Conservation Federation of Missouri.

The event has no entrance fee and is open to a Junior Class, having boys and girls up to 16 years in it, and an Open Class, having men and women over 16 years in it. The tournament will be held on Saturday, Aug. 25th, this year.

A challenge trophy will be awarded to the open winner, with permanent possession to a three-time winner. Championship medals will be given to winners in each class. Ribbons for first, second and third places are to be given in each class.

Everyone is welcome to use equipment furnished at the pool, without charge, by the Conservation Commission. Conservation Agents will be in charge of this feature, and will serve as instructors to those who desire advice and instruction in casting.

Those who wish to enter are requested to send their entries to radio station KDRO in Sedalia, stating their age and the class entering.

Gives Scholarship—

Fine Artists Have Chances At Bright Future This Year

Opportunity will be on hand in Department U at the Missouri State Fair this year, waiting to tap some artist on the shoulder with the offer of a bright future. Department U is the Fine Arts Department, and the offer is in the form of a three-year scholarship to the "Famous Artists Schools" of New York. The scholarship will consist of a three-year home study Famous Artist (commercial) or Famous Artist Painting course. It will be given to the exhibitor of the most outstanding work in painting in the Fine Arts Department at the Fair, which runs from August 18 through August 26. Any painting, by an amateur, professional or commercial artist, will be eligible.

The Famous Artists Schools form the biggest correspondence school in the world, with a staff of instructors headed by 12 of the most successful artists in the United States. They include Albert Dorne, the president and a top illustrator, and other big-name artists such as Norman Rockwell, Steve Dohanos, Robert Fawcett, Ben Stahl — a group of men whose average income from their professional work is $50,000 a year. The school has more than 10,000 students enrolled — amateurs of all ages and of all social and economic classes, and also professional artists who are expanding their field of art.

There also are other opportunities open to exhibitors in the Fine Arts Department at Missouri's great annual exposition. The premiums are among them, carrying not merely cash awards but much prestige because of the top-notch competition for the awards. In addition, artists have a chance to sell their creations, sales being made free of charge, and an exhibit at the Fair frequently leads to commissions later because of the publicity that comes with an artist's work being viewed by the thousands of Fair visitors.

One of the most coveted prizes at the Fair is that of having a work adjudged "Picture of the Day" by the vote of visitors to the Fine Arts Department. It is open to paintings entered in the professional, amateur and modern art classes.

Lend Religious Air—

Missouri Church Groups Will Be Represented at the Fair

Well-represented at the Missouri State Fair this year, August 18-26, will be the church groups of the state. The Missouri Council of Churches, the Missouri Baptist Association, the Lutheran Laymen's League and the Knights of Columbus all have reserved space at the Fair for the distribution of information and literature and for generally acquainting visitors with the organization's activities. This is the first year the State Fair has had so extensive a church representation.

The Missouri Council of Churches will have a special exhibit of its World Service Program, which includes shipping heifers overseas to aid the underprivileged and to offer a constructive approach to maintaining peace, and also includes the Council's S.O.S. (Share Our Surplus) program of food distribution. The Council will have at the Fair a heifer and some of the cowboys who have accompanied shipments overseas. Pamphlets and other material relating to the work of the Council will be distributed.

The Lutheran Laymen's League, which is having a booth for the first time but is expanding its representation at the State Fair, will have a tent containing displays, and will distribute pamphlets, brochures and other souvenirs. A feature of the League's program will be a continuous showing of audio-films, record playings of centennial anniversary hymns and radio and TV programs. There will be accommodations for about 100 visitors who wish to drop in and rest.

The Knights of Columbus booth will depict the religious information campaign sponsored by the K. of C. to explain the teachings of the Catholic church. It will be in charge of various members of the Sedalia Council, who will hand out literature offering those interested to obtain pamphlets and to enroll for instruction.

The Missouri Baptist Association will have a 40 by 75 foot space with a general display, and individual booths of the various Baptist institutions such as the Children's Home, the Home for the Aged and the Missouri Baptist Hospital. There also will be a book store, and other displays.

Biblical Mention

Sugar cane apparently was known in India and elsewhere in the Orient hundreds of years before the Christian Era and is mentioned in the Old Testament of the Bible.

DOUBLE OCTOPUS—The Double Octopus makes its first appearance at the 54th Missouri "Show-Me Show" on the mile-long Midway of the Sedalia-Wilson carnival. This attraction of the "Greatest Midway on Earth" is one of 20 new feature rides.

The Exhibitors Service has been at the fair the week previous to opening setting up tents and other concession-type stands. Many concessions have been already set up as early as two weeks before the opening of the fair.

Fair personnel have marked off with paint the areas to be used by concession people. Each concessionaire will use within his painted area for his stand.

forms are and will be located on the "Show Me Show" fairgrounds this year. Practically any article can be purchased from these concessions.

Western States
The 11 western states, according to the bureau of land management, are Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

ICE SPECTACLE—In a graceful balancing feat that would require the utmost skill even on solid footing, two skating adagio teams put on a breathtaking number in "Holiday on Ice," the renowned ice revue that has been booked for a five-night stand starting August 19 at the Missouri State Fair. The scene takes place during the ice-adaptation of Ravel's Bolero. Participants are Jeanne Sook with Ted Roman (left) and Genevieve Norris with John Dietel. The double adagio, something new on ice, is only one of several hours of spectacular effects that will be presented to Fair visitors who attend a performance of "Holiday on Ice," which is showing at the Missouri State Fair this year for the first time.

Big Three Propose International Board

Would Be Associated With UN, Egypt for Suez Canal Control

LONDON, Aug. 16—(P)—Secretary of State Dulles proposed today that an international board associated with the United Nations—and with Egypt as a member—should run the Suez Canal.

Republican Convention Program Set

Designed 'Brisk, Clear, Interesting' With Concise Talks

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16—(P)—The Republicans announced today a GOP National Convention program designed to be "brisk, clear and interesting" from its Monday afternoon start through President Eisenhower's renomination Wednesday.

The balloting for vice president will follow immediately after President Eisenhower's renomination. Only scattered opposition to Richard M. Nixon's renomination now is apparent. The convention finale comes Thursday with acceptance speeches by the nominees for vice president and President.

New Concept of Conventions

The program was prepared "under a whole new concept of political conventions" required by consideration of the national television audience, said actor George Murphy of Hollywood, showman consultant for the National Committee.

Murphy said President Eisenhower won't talk longer than 20 minutes in his Thursday speech and declared the President himself has suggested a rule that all speeches be "as concise as possible."

Cabinet May Read Planks

Not yet officially set is a plan for nine Eisenhower Cabinet officers to read the platform planks. Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr. or Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., ambassador to the United Nations, would appear for Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles will be at the London Suez conference.

Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, resolutions chairman who will offer the platform report at the Tuesday session, is shooting for a 3,000-word resolutions report. The Democratic platform ran 10,000 words.

Mrs. Charles W. Weis Jr. of New York, subcommittee chairman on planning, said Bush and his committee have not made final decision yet on platform presentation by the Cabinet officers.

Address by Hoover

Herbert Hoover, 82-year-old former President, will address the Tuesday session after approval of the platform. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, presidential nominee in 1944 and 1948, will speak Wednesday before the presidential and vice-presidential balloting.

The opening convention session starts at 11 a. m. Monday. A second Monday session, which keynoter Arthur Langlie, governor of Washington, will address, starts at 4 p. m.

Thereafter all sessions open at 3:30 p. m. with recess breaks for dinner. The committee schedule calls for adjournment of all sessions before 7 p. m. PDT.

Colorado Man Heads For State Fair With Burro-Driven Wagon

MACON, Mo., Aug. 16—(P)—"See America Fast" is the motto of Jack Ratliff, Pritchett, Colo.

But it has taken more than 16 years for him to do it.

The motto is painted on the sides of the covered wagon in which he is making his tour. Motive power for the wagon is supplied by three burros, each 18 years old.

Ratliff stopped here enroute to the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia. He makes his living by selling picture postcards; spare eggs from his traveling flock of 12 chickens, and milk from his goats.

He has visited every state in the union and Mexico and Canada.

The temperature Thursday at 7 a. m. was 76; 92 at 1 p. m. and 94 at 2 p. m. Low Wednesday night 75.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 54.7, no change.

This was the main plank of a four-point plan presented by Dulles on behalf of the United States, Britain and France to the 22-nation conference seeking a settlement of the Suez dispute.

Assaulted World Confidence

Dulles declared Egypt's July 26 nationalization of the waterway grievously assaulted world confidence. By this action, he said, Egypt "seized hold of a sword with which it could cut into the economic vitals of many nations."

Prime Minister Eden had somberly opened the conference with the warning:

"The occasion . . . must rank among the gravest that any of us have had to face since the second World War."

The talks had barely begun when Russia's new foreign minister, Dmitri Shepilov, took the American-British-French sponsors of the conference to task with an attack on its membership, timing, and legality.

The husky, black-suited Russian calmly denounced what he called the abnormal atmosphere of pressure built up as a prelude to the talks. He decried the concentrations of military power of Britain and France in the Mediterranean and their economic reprisals such as freezing of Egyptian assets in their hands.

Moves to Broaden Conference

Shepilov made a bid to broaden the conference to include 24 other nations, including Red China. But he agreed to waive procedural objections and expressed willingness to help achieve a peaceful solution.

Dulles, as the Western Big Three spokesman, noted Egyptian President Nasser's pledges to keep the canal free, open and efficient, but declared:

"What is required is a permanent operation of the canal under an international system which will, in fact, give confidence to those who would normally wish to use the canal."

"The canal should not be, and should not be allowed to become, an instrument of the policy of any nation or group of nations, whether of Europe or Asia or Africa."

Sees Talks As a First Step

Shepilov, who yesterday had impressed Dulles with his open-mindedness and candor, made clear he regards the London talks only as a first step and not capable of producing decisions.

"All possible should be done," the Russian said, "to reach an agreed opinion here on the preparation of an international conference, or some other international procedure, to examine the problem of the freedom of navigation of the Suez Canal on the basis of the observance of the sovereign rights of Egypt."

That said, the delegates whipped through their procedural arrangements in 90 minutes.

Bishop Frank Talks in New M. E. Church

Addresses 325 At Church Banquet; Praises the Work

Bishop Eugene M. Frank of St. Louis, new Methodist bishop, addressed 325 people at the church-wide banquet held Wednesday night at the Wesley Methodist Church.

"What you have done," the bishop told the Wesley Methodist congregation, "is a very heroic thing. Many of you were baptized in the Fifth Street Methodist Church, were married there and your loved ones were buried there; then to leave the old location and move into another and strange part of town—to you is almost equal to the call of Abraham who left his homeland for the land of promise. You, too, have responded to a call nothing short of divine; you have answered this call."

"It is an inspiring thing," said Bishop Frank, "and as I walked from room to room through this beautiful church I caught the vision of a great opportunity to build a new congregation."

"What has come about has not been in the twinkling of an eye, but over a long period of planning and stewardship. Every pastor, every district superintendent, every Christian, every person who has gone through the doors of the old Fifth Street Methodist Church have culminated in the life blood stream of the congregation. Turn your eyes toward the future, something you'll need to remember in the Wesley Church."

Bishop Frank was introduced by the Rev. Lee F. Soxman, pastor.

Seigel A. Woodard presided over the meeting and invocation was given by the Rev. H. U. Campbell, former pastor of the congregation. Singing was led by Mrs. Lee Soxman, with Mrs. George Loveman as accompanist.

A history of the church was given by Seigel Woodard in his talk on "The Road We've Come" in which he told of the congregation's first building built in 1870 at Third and Massachusetts which still stands and is now the Heynen Monument Co. In 1873 there were 64 members, in 1888 there were 100 and in 1891 they had outgrown the building and a new building was built at Fifth and Osage. This building was condemned and in ten years torn down and the new building built in 1901. In 1943 a building fund was started with $200 and he went on to tell how that fund grew through the years, the problems that came up.

He then introduced Merle Vaughan, chairman of the building fund, who talked on "We Did It Together." Vaughan told of the (Please turn to page 6, column 3)

Missouri College Student Killed In Mountain Fall

GRAND LAKE, Colo., Aug. 16—(P)—George Bloom, a 21-year-old William Jewell college senior, was killed on a mountain-climbing fall near here yesterday.

His body was found today after a search by scores of volunteers, ten forest rangers and a helicopter. District Ranger Robert Weldon said Bloom apparently died in a plunge down a 200-foot cliff.

Bloom, whose home was in Cameron, Mo., had been missing since he became separated from a companion during a fierce thunderstorm on a climb in Rocky Mountain Park yesterday afternoon.

Bloom was a summer employee at Grand Lake Lodge. He set out yesterday with a fellow employee, John Carpenter, 23, Olean, N. Y., also a student at William Jewell, to climb Mt. Craig.

Worried and chilled, Carpenter returned to the lodge last night and reported he last saw Bloom around 3 p. m. when a storm struck. The two were descending the 12,005-foot peak at the time. They separated to hole in against falling shale. A fog closed in on the area after the rain, Carpenter said.

Temperatures dropped to around freezing in the mountains last night.

Given Presidential Nod on First Ballot

Adlai Will Make His Second Bid For Office Against Eisenhower

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, Aug. 16—(P)—Adlai E. Stevenson captured the Democratic presidential nomination tonight with a smashing first ballot victory at the Democratic national convention.

Down to stunning but entirely expected defeat went Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

For the former Illinois governor ran like a champion, out front and true to form all the way. He led from the instant the first state laid its ballots on the line and Harriman never came close to a challenge.

A Second Try

Once more the Democratic clans had placed their presidential banner in Stevenson's hands, bent on converting their 1952 loser into a 1956 winner over President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Stevenson left his downtown law office, miles away, and headed for this convention arena.

In the golden moment of his victory, he had a wide smile for reporters and word that "I feel relieved and happy."

Today's Program

CHICAGO, Aug. 16—(P)—Here is the program for Friday's session of the Democratic National Convention:

Friday

Afternoon session opens 12 noon EST with invocation and Star Spangled Banner.

Balloting on candidates for vice presidential nomination.

Night session opens 8 p. m. EST with invocation, Star Spangled Banner.

Addresses by former President Harry S. Truman—the vice presidential nominee; the presidential nominee. Benediction and adjournment of convention.

Sitting in the presidential box alongside the floor where the voting clinched things for Stevenson was Harry S. Truman—the man who bet on Harriman, fought for him, and lost.

'Democrats to Win'

Asked if he had any comment, Truman told a reporter:

"Only that the Democrats are going to win."

For the "Old Man From Missouri," that was, a complete political about face. Earlier in the week he had criticized Stevenson as lacking fighting spirit and said he couldn't win if nominated.

It was the massive Pennsylvania delegation that rang up the jackpot for Stevenson. It handed over 67 of its 74 votes and put him beyond the 68½ needed to nail down the nomination.

Over the Top

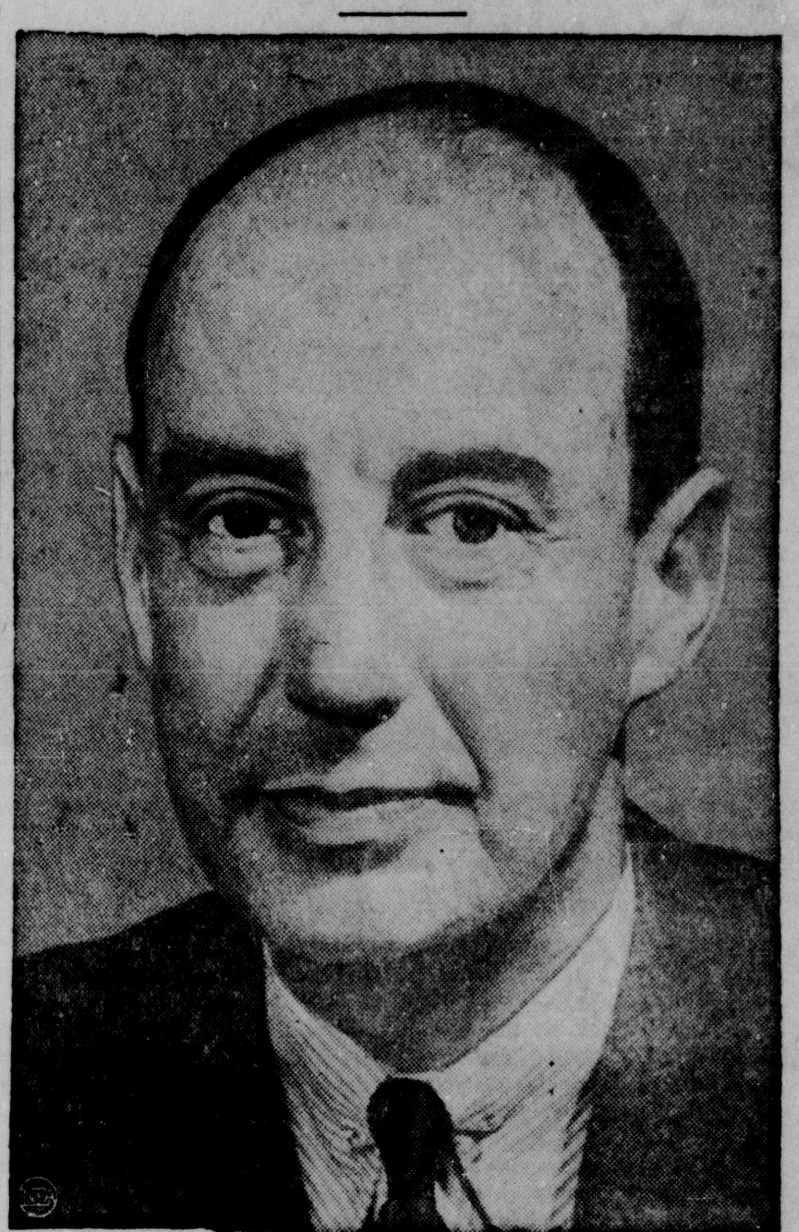

"Mr. Chairman," came the dramatic announcement from Pennsylvania, "Pennsylvania casts for Gov. Harriman 7 votes—and sufficient votes to put Adlai Stevenson over the top, 67."

The packed auditorium rang out with cheers and yells. On and on the call of the states rolled. And at the end of that first and only roll call Stevenson had 905½ ballots.

The New York governor trailed in the dust with 210. The other votes were scattered among seven favorite sons.

Acclamation Proclaimed

In the end, in accordance with custom, the Democrats put on a big display of unity and rank-closing. Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma, the man who had placed (Please turn to page 6, column 6)

Hodge Denies Knowing Anything of Missing Greenlease Ransom

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16—(P)—The Post-Dispatch reported that Orville Hodge, deposed Illinois state auditor, denied today he knows anything about the missing Greenlease ransom money "in any form, shape or fashion whatsoever."

Robert H. Collins of the Post-Dispatch, who interviewed Hodge in his hospital room at Springfield, Ill., reported the convicted Hodge said:

"My god, how could people connect me with that Greenlease ransom? I've pleaded guilty of what I've done and I'm already paying the penalty. Now it appears a lot of people are out to completely crucify me."

Hodge is under a 10-year prison sentence on his plea of guilty to a federal charge of conspiring to misapply more than $800,000 in Illinois state funds. He also has pleaded guilty to state charges in the scandal.

Protests Highway 40 Relocation

Boonville Citizens Okay Change, But Want It Kept Closer

Armed with more than 2000 signatures to a petition signed by local citizens and resolutions from the City of Boonville and civic organizations, a special highway committee, plus a caravan of 100 citizens attended a hearing before the State Highway commission on Tuesday to protest the relocation of US Highway 40.

Paul Darby, chairman of the Boonville planning commission, presented facts on why the community had not protested the relocation sooner.

Darby pointed out that it was the impression of the community that the original plan to relocate the bridge at Merna, and then relocate later at Overton, had not met with community objection. Then when the bridge was proposed to be built at Rocheport, that the community still did not raise an objection. Darby added that the first sites for the bridge would have meant that the highway would have been close to the city limits, but that the Rocheport location and highway subsequent relocation indicated on highway maps, the highway would be more than three miles from the sight of town.

Albert Hoff, president of the Boonville Chamber of Commerce, and vice-president of Kemper State Bank, told the commission of the possible break-up of our natural trade area were the highway located as now planned. He stated that the community has not complained about removal of the highway from Main street, realizing that this would come, but that the community does feel that we would not be as badly affected if the highway were built in sight of the city.

Oliver T. Maxwell, publisher of the Boonville News-Advertiser, said "We do not ask for the highway to remain on Main street, but we do hope that it can be located within the sight of Boonville."

New Vaccine Is Successful On Gripes

Reduces Expected Rate of Grippe-Type Respiratory Illness

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—(P)—Successful trial of a new triple-barreled vaccine against some grippetype illnesses was announced today by the U. S. Public Health Service and the Navy.

Administration of the vaccine to 4,000 recruits at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Greau Lakes, Ill. last winter and spring reduced the expected rate of such illnesses among the recruits by between 50 and 70 per cent, the report said.

Explaining that the ailments are certain respiratory illnesses "characterized by fever," the health service said:

"These illnesses are of the grippetype variety and do not include the non-feverish infections generally designated as the common cold."

Covers Virus, Severe Colds But the Army, which has also reported promising results from a vaccine against some of these same illnesses, has used a broader definition of them. It has said that while they do not include the common cold they include illnesses "commonly referred to as grippes, catarrhal fever, virus pneumonia, sore throat and severe colds."

Today's announcement said Public Health Service and Navy doctors who conducted the Great Lakes trial feel that "perhaps more potent products than the present vaccine will be developed later." The scientists presented a technical report in the Journal of the American Medical Assn.

Plumbers Union Head Calls for Perseverance In Merging CIO, AFL

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 16—(P)—Charles J. MacGowan, president emeritus of the Boilermakers International Union today called for patience and perseverance in merging the CIO and AFL spiritually as well as physically.

Speaking at the 27th convention of the plumbers and pipefitters, he said it would take time to effect a complete understanding.

"Men who grew up in the CIO have not yet been able to understand our craft method of doing business, and a lot in the AFL still don't understand the problems of industrial workers," he said.

"It is going to take time. It will result in disappointments—and feuds in some cases—before there is a complete understanding."

Sedalians Are Subject Of Magazines

The Independent Woman, monthly magazine of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., is overflowing this month, in its August issue, with articles and pictures on Sedalians.

On the cover is a picture of Miss Hazel Palmer and on the first page an article about the cover picture.

"Miss Hazel Palmer, the 17th president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, is a practicing attorney in Sedalia, Missouri, in the law firm of Palmer and Palmer, a father-daughter combination."

"Miss Palmer's work with this federation since 1935 has been characterized by fairness to everyone and by a dedicated spirit of service."

"As the new president she assures an enlightened, broad, practical, yet idealistic leadership, guiding the way for new heights of achievement for our National Federation."

On Page 25 is another picture of Hazel and a copy of her acceptance speech. On page 26 is an article about her with the heading: "Presenting the New National President."

Miss Palmer appears in several other pictures throughout the magazine, one with the newly elected officers at the biennial convention; one at the head table at the Florida Federation dinner for the board; and one with Governor Frank G. Clement of Tennessee, who gave the keynote address at the convention banquet.

In addition to the stories and pictures of Hazel there was also a picture of Miss Rose Leibbrand who has taken over the duties of executive director for the National Federation and an article about her.

A picture of Miss Palmer also appears in the Missouri Business Woman, the state BPWC paper along with a message by Beulah Kirksey, Springfield, president of the Missouri Business and Professional Women's Club, who told of the Miami Beach, Fla., convention and of the friendliness and cooperation that prevailed.

Of Hazel Palmer she said: "We were proud of Hazel in Miami. Whenever she took the floor, she exemplified such ability and maintained such dignity and poise as could not be excelled. On every hand we heard praise and admiration for her outstanding ability. It was a thrilling climax to the Biennial to see Hazel installed as National President of our great Federation."

Foundation Program Brings Several Changes in Schools

The new plan of apportionment of state aid to schools, generally known as the "foundation program," went into effect after receiving voter approval in a referendum election in Oct. 1955. Some changes have already taken place as a result of the new plan.

Although local districts which transport school pupils must still bear a large percentage of transportation costs, state aid has been somewhat liberalized for districts whose routes are long and not densely populated. Each transporting district in Pettis county eligible for state aid now receives an apportionment of 20 cents per pupil per day transported, as compared with the 15 cents formerly received.

Every district in the county which shares in state aid must levy at least $1 for teacher and incidental purposes. This is an increase in the levy for non-high school districts which formerly levied a 65 cent minimum to share in state aid. Depending on the school enrollment and the local district valuation, some schools are receiving considerably more state aid than they formerly did, while others will get considerably less due to low pupil enrollments. The state aid for districts which maintain only an eight-month term is proportionately reduced. This provision has resulted in one rural district, Anderson School No. 26, voting to have a nine-month term for the coming year, and other districts are considering a longer term.

One new feature of the state aid plan is the teacher incentive payment, by which state aid is increased for teachers having larger amounts of college hours. The State Department of Education is also encouraging better college preparation by raising college hour requirements for certificates and classification of schools. The minimum this year for all new teachers and for all teachers holding non-renewable certificates will be 64 hours, instead of 32 as formerly.

Teachers having less than 64 hours, with renewable certificates, will be granted a reasonable time to bring their preparation up to the 64-hour minimum. College hour requirements for elementary teachers in high school districts will be higher than the 64-hour minimum, depending on the classification of the district. With greater college preparation and increased funds available, the State Department of Education hopes that the teacher salary level will be raised, so that a good supply of well-trained teachers can be maintained in Missouri.

Good Memory
DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A witness at a federal income tax evasion trial had no trouble recalling a $470 payment he said he made as a slot machine payoff to a defendant.

He had tucked the money in the watch pocket of trousers, then absently sent the pants to the cleaner.

When they came back the $470 was gone and he had to dig up another payment of the same amount.

Finger painting is fun for preschool children and develops their interest in art. Mothers will find that it is a favorite occupation for older children, too, for after school hours.

There are many inexpensive sets available. Or you can make paints at home by adding vegetable coloring to thin starch. They can be applied on cardboard, wrapping paper, or writing paper.

Five Pettis Schools Get Triple A Rate

Each year the schools of the state are checked for classification by means of a score card of standards set up by the State Department of Education. Five Pettis County rural schools received the coveted AAA rating, the highest standard offered.

These schools were Striped College No. 29, High Point No. 30, Sunny Side No. 33, Quisenberry No. 53, and Bothwell No. 105. Mosby School No. 27 received a AA rating, and the remaining rural schools were granted class A rating. There were no rural schools which failed to get minimum approval.

Three of the six-director elementary districts received AA rating, these being Districts R-I, R-VII, and R-XII. Two of the six-director elementary districts were unclassified, one because it maintained only an eight-month term, and the other because it was necessary to employ a teacher with less than the required amount of college credit in order to fill a vacancy.

All of the high school districts except Sedalia were Class A schools. Sedalia again qualified for AAA rating, which indicates outstanding faculty, school plant, curriculum, etc.

'Ivy League' Are Keywords For Students

The keywords in junior back to school styles this year, are Ivy League — the magic words that have given the young man of the family his new "grown up" look.

When the youngster heads back to the classroom, he'll be attired in a dress-up flannel suit, or an Ivy League sport jacket and slacks, probably topped by a scaled-down version of the adult duffer jacket. In every phase of the junior wardrobe, styles and idea in design have been borrowed from adult fashions.

In more and more sections of the country, the days of sloppy jeans and shirt are dead and departed—a happy state of affairs which has probably been helped by the theory of some school authorities who are tending to link juvenile misbehavior with untidy dress habits.

A favorite choice for junior back to school suits will be Cambridge gray wool flannel, Ivy League style of course, in many cases with matching eton cap. Other good colors in medium weight flannels and worsteds are light tan and gray-blue.

Boys' sportjackets for fall strongly reflect the men's wear trend toward the colorful blazer stripes. They're bold and bright, in color combinations of wine, red and gray, lemon and gray, brown and blue, olive green, and khaki.

They also reflect the trend toward lighterweight fabrics, so that medium weight wool worsteds and tweeds are favored. Top shades for slacks are Cambridge or banker's gray, and tan.

Wool fleece, melton and covert are the most popular fabrics for junior outer jackets. Style features include double breasted closings, leather fastenings, concealed hoods and large patch pockets.

Schools Open Sept 4—Versailles Plans to Move Into New High School Soon

Much work has been done this summer in preparation for Sept. 4, the date when classroom work opens in Morgan County R-II schools. In addition to regular administration and maintenance, there has been much work done in anticipation of a move from the present high school building into a new high school building being constructed on Highway 52 west of Versailles.

When the new high school building for the district is complete, the present high school building will be converted to upper-grade elementary. Four new classrooms have been partitioned in the old high school study hall. These will be used as home rooms for elementary sections in the new situation.

Textbooks are being sorted, needs listed, and orders to fill needs being forwarded to various companies. Earlier in the summer books were gathered from the 13 elementary schools and sorted according to grade, subject, and company for better utilization of material on hand.

In addition to routine maintenance the annual custodial work of waxing floors of elementary and high school buildings, keeping lawns mowed, and various other custodial crew work has been pursued. Repainting classrooms and waxing floors at the elementary school at Gravois Mills was accomplished.

All summer work finally adds up to opening school Sept. 4, 1956, with one 12-teacher elementary school at Versailles, one four-teacher elementary school at Gravois Mills, 11 one-teacher schools throughout the district, and one 13-teacher high school at Versailles. It is expected sometime during the first semester to rearrange the system to one elementary school (grades 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6) at Gravois Mills; two elementary schools (one with grades 1, 2, 3, 4; and one with grades 4, 5, 6 and 7) at Versailles.

About Town

Lt. Com. L. A. Pharris, Jr., U.S. Coast Guard, Mrs. Pharris and two children, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., are visiting for ten days with Commander Pharris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pharris, 1005 South Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Embry and daughters, Denver, Colo., have returned to Denver after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Embry, 800 East Fifth, and other relatives and friends at Smithton, Otterville, Warsaw and Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Embry and family, Tipton, were guests Tuesday evening.

Miss Johanna Propp of Germany, stopped for a visit over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Callis, Route 5, en route from Virginia to San Diego, Calif.

Miss Propp, who is about 23 years old, has been in the United States on a Fulbright scholarship. She was serving as program director at Camp Ruthers, Forest, Va., and while there met Mrs. Jean Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Callis. Jean, is welfare director of Norfolk Girls Camp and was also at Camp Ruthers where she was program leader.

When Johanna told her of her plans to go back to Germany but she wanted to see more of this country first going on to California Jean told her to stop in Sedalia and break the journey with a visit with her parents.

That sounded good to Johanna and that is what she did. She had been through a lot of hardships during the war when her father was killed, and her mother and the rest of the family lived on bread and water. She told Mr. and Mrs. Callis she was lucky to be alive.

She studied one year in England before coming here.

Grownups Are Going Back to School Too

'Round the nation, grown-ups too, are dusting off notebooks and readying themselves for classes!

About 35 million adults each year go back-to-school for various types of adult education. Of this number, between five and seven million are enrolled in public school programs for adult learning.

Nation-wide, the states of California, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan offer the best developed and most comprehensive public programs.

Students Give Luggage More Wear, Tear

Luggage owned by a student gets more wear and tear than that of the average traveler, with the exception of business people whose work takes them away frequently.

For the four-year round of back and forth travel, the student should consider purchase of new luggage from the service angle — and check for strong bindings, well-made hardware, sturdy, comfortable handles and a covering which will take hard knocks and slingshot strikes.

For girls, the usual three piece starter set is a necessity.

Additional useful pieces are the hat-and-shoe case and the round hatbox. Add to this, if school is far from home, a useful trunk in which to send bedding, books, curtains, etc.

Boys of high school or college age need a minimum of a suitcase and companion bag. Suitcases are designed to hold from one to four suits the 'companion' is an unfitted, matching suitcase useful for accessories, weekend or overnight visits.

For more clothing, the end-opening wardrobe is equipped with several hangers and a section for flat packing.

Favorite colors, according to the Luggage and Leather Goods Manufacturers of America, are ginger and sultan in that order.

Several Programs Of Educational Value Presented

In the interest of promoting the "theatre of the mind" CBS Radio has reactivated its "Workshop" series, and spotlights each week some new idea in drama.

In the strictly educational field, CBS Radio offers "Invitation to Learning," now in its 16th year on the air, under the guidance of Dr. Lyman Bryson who, together with two distinguished men of letters, discusses classic literary works each week.

Likewise educational in its appeal is the "Adventures in Science" series, which presents weekly interviews with renowned guests on current developments in science.

CBS Radio also presents a wide variety of programs whose cultural entertainment values can be considered educational in their benefits.

Such musical treats as the Sunday afternoon broadcasts of the New York Philharmonic Symphony during the winter season are followed by the "World Music Festivals" — visits to the outstanding summer music festivals in Europe and the United States.

The news and public affairs feature on CBS Radio presents outstanding reporters and news analysts in regular broadcasts of history as it happens, together with frequent special coverage of speeches and events of national and international importance.

Child Foot Health Month Sponsored By National Council

The National Foot Health Council is again sponsoring Child Foot Health Month during September to teach children the importance of better foot care, good posture, and how to walk. The slogan is "Foot Care Should Commence in Childhood."

During Child Foot Health Month school physicians in many states will include the examination of the feet in the fall health check-up. Foot examinations are required by law in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and California, and many other states include foot health education for children.

During the summer months children's feet grow rapidly at play and the proper development of their feet requires new leather school shoes fitted large enough to provide for the summer time foot growth. Children's feet should be re-measured every 1 to 3 months, and fitted with correct size shoes and hosiery at all times. Outgrown footwear is the cause of bone and joint defects and deformities of the feet, legs, and spine.

'Young' Eyes Need Check by Optometrist

A wise student or conscientious parent will have 'young' eyes checked regularly by professional optical people — doctors, opticians, optometrists — before school starts and during the school term. He should also tell his oculist about studying conditions that may be unfavorable to the eyes and get the proper advice from him.

The eyes are the most powerful yet most fragile human organ, but most people too often neglect them. Before they realize it their eyes are weakened permanently and they're stuck with thick glasses. Check the glare of the light under which your child studies at home, and you will have taken the first step toward guarding the future strength and health of his eyes.

Studying is the main thing at school. But eyes are sensitive and need care, too. Don't strain them boning up for those exams. If you burn the midnight oil be sure to have good light.

Democrat Convention Lacks Humor

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The television and radio audience is seeing and hearing many things from the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. The scenes and words will continue next week at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

But one thing we have not seen or heard, and unquestionably shall not during these weeks, is a humorous interpretation of anything political. There's a church-like solemnity to the proceedings that cries out for the wry comments of the late great Will Rogers.

An era of American humor died with Rogers and neither television nor radio has revived it — or even tried. In fact, television and radio have gone to extraordinary pains to make sure that no fun is made of politics. Can anyone recall hearing a political joke on the big communications mediums? We have heard mild jokes concerning religion and numerous ways of life have been held up to satire, both sharp and flat.

But the pointed and often hilarious remarks on politics of such men as Mark Twain, Josh Billings and Petroleum Nasby have passed from the American scene — at least as far as television and radio are concerned. Political jokes have become an under-the-counter trade. The faithful of all parties laugh privately at the many excellent political jokes that constantly circulate. But it's a rare comedian who repeats one on the air.

It's difficult to decide whether the big communications media have abetted this state of mind or merely reflect it.

Maybe it would be appropriate to lay one small wreath on the grave of American political humor once one of the strongest voices in our country. And what will be the epitaph? Perhaps a line from James Russell Lowell, who wrote long ago: "There are some things so elastic that even the heavy roller of democracy cannot flatten them altogether down."

Absentee Votes Give Senate Nomination To Herbert Douglas

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—Herbert Douglas is the Republican nominee for U. S. senator from Missouri.

A tabulation of absentee ballots from throughout the state, except in St. Louis where the counting was slow, showed that Douglas defeated Albert E. Schoenbeck of St. Louis by a margin of about 3,000 votes in last week's primary election.

Douglas will oppose Democratic Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of St. Louis in the November general election. Hennings won re-nomination for a second term without opposition.

A tabulation of returns from all except 11 of Missouri's 4,553 precincts, and minus the St. Louis absentee vote, gave Douglas, 81,469, Schoenbeck 78,137.

Schoenbeck, law partner of fore-expected to pick up a few votes in the St. Louis absentee count. He carried the city by a margin of better than 3 to 1. Schoenbeck He carried the city by a margin of better than 3 to 1. Schoenbeck also led Douglas in St. Louis County and Jackson County, but this was more than offset by Douglas' big margin in outstate Missouri.

Stevenson Wins

Harriman's name in nomination, moved to make the tally unanimous for the winner.

Smiling from the sidelines, Truman applauded the motion.

The convention chairman, Sam Rayburn of Texas, put it to a voice vote and proclaimed there were no "noes."

So the scoreboard was changed to show Stevenson 1,372—all the others blank.

Once more the Democrats thundered their approval. And for a change Rayburn made no effort to halt them. He suggested with a knowing smile that they stay around a bit though.

Stevenson was being asked whether he wished to visit the hall or send a message.

Ovation for Truman

During the recess the band played "We're Loyal to You, Illinois." And a few moments later, in tribute to Truman, "The Missouri Waltz." For the old party war-horse who rode down to defeat with the Harriman cause, the party legions had a standing ovation.

Before the Stevenson nomination was made unanimous, this is how the runnersup tagged along in the vote count behind Stevenson and Harriman:

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, 80.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, 45 1/2.

Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, 36 1/2.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, 5 1/2.
